ICBM Launched From Silo

Titan Survives Flame, Sound Wave Stress

(Picture on page 2)

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A huge Titan missile thundered out of its underground lair Wednesday in a successful first test of a "hardened" ICBM launch system .

It was intentionally destroyed about 40 miles down the Pacific missile range after surviving two periods of severe stress. Its range is 5,000 miles and more.

The test pioneered an armored underground launch system designed to enable the United States to strike back after atomic attack.

The prime goal was to learn if the two-stage Titan, this country's largest and most powerful rocket, could survive the flame and sound-wave punishment of leaving its hole.

It did, and later came through another all-out buffeting 20 miles up.

Air Force Pleased

The Air Force, fearing either assault might be enough to destroy the missile, said it was delighted.

The firing took place despite a 40-knot wind that kicked up visibility-obscuring dust.

The launch hole, called a silo, is similar to those being rushed to completion at various Titan bases.

The silo systems are designed to survive and shoot back after anything but a direct hit by a nuclear or thermonuclear bomb.

The one tested Wednesday is tailored for a new model Titan capable of almost instant firing.

Earlier models, which had to be fueled before firing, required a 15-minute countdown.

Fourteen Titan squadrons had been planned, but the Kennedy administration recently recommended eliminating two.

The launch site was atop a low, brushy hill 3½ miles inland from the sea.

Crucial part of the launch was getting the missile out of the hole and safely through a "sound barrier" just above.

How System Works

The way the system works:

The 97-foot missile's 300,000-pound thrust engine is ignited near the bottom of the 146-foot deep silo. The missile is inside a tube within the silo.

The fiery exhaust blast hits the hole's bottom, then is deflected up the sides and out the top by a "W" shaped deflector. The tube keeps the missile from being burned.

A major hazard is intense sonic vibration, created by blast noise, as the missile leaves the hole. It creates potentially damaging high frequency vibrations in the missile's skin. To measure it, the test Titan was equippped with vibration records at various points.

Once out of the hole, there was another hurdle: An extreme stress test, possibly beyond Titan's design limit—the first such it has undergone.

At 96 seconds, 20 miles up, they cut off the automatic pilot which keeps the missile stable and on course. Allowed to run free, it was supposed to pitch and yaw and actually bend.

Finally, after 140 seconds, 40 miles out, the range safety officer blew it up—as part of a test of the range safety system.

The dead girl was identified as Judy Egelhoff, 16, West Los Angeles. (AP Photofax)

Cease-Fire Order Issued By Laos Reds

Continued Fighting Blamed On Faulty Communications

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Pro-Communist Laotian rebels proclaimed a cease-fire effective at 8 a.m. Wednesday. A later attack by the rebels on a key town in the narrow southern waist of Laos failed to dim hopes here that all fighting soon would stop.

The general tendency was to blame the assault, in battalion size, at Pha Lane on a failure in communications. Western military experts have predicted there would be some incidents and fighting even after a formal cease-fire.

The cease-fire order to Pathet Lao forces and their rebel allies was broadcast over North Viet Nam's Hanoi radio.

Conference Call Issued

It was coupled with an appeal to the Western-backed Laotian government of Premier Boun Oum to negotiate an armistice followed by a peace conference.

It was disclosed that neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, recogized by the Communists as legal premier of Laos, called on all parties in the civil war to gather Friday for political conference to discuss a new coalition government at Na Mon village, site of the military truce talks.

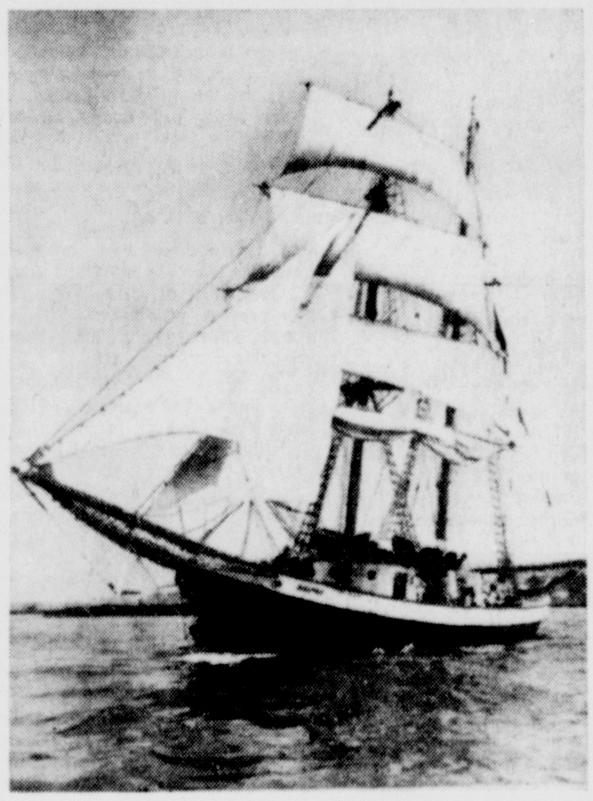
A New China News Agency dispatch said the call was broadcast by the rebel voice of Laos Wednesday night.

Souvanna said the discussions would concern "first o fall the question of a coalition government and that of Laos' representation at the Geneva conference."

Fighting Fails To Dim Hopes

Neither the fighting at Pha Lane, 50 miles east of Savannakhet, nor a rebel attack on Hin Heup, 50 miles north of Vientiane, clouded hope that both sides in the long war were inching toward a halt in the conflict. An armistice could pave the way to a political solution to be weighed by 14 nations at a conference in Geneva.

Pha Lane is on a highway that runs east into Viet Nam at a point below the North-South Viet Nam frontier. Government forces holding the road have access to supplies from South Viet Nam. Rebel forces could use the highway for a supply route from Communist North Viet Nam.



Lost In Storm

The 92-foot brigantine Albatross (above) sank during a violent storm in the Gulf of Mexico about 180 miles northwest of Key West, Fla., Tuesday. The vessel, a "floating classroom," carried 19 persons, most of them teen-age boys. Six persons were drowned and the other 13 rescued. (AP Photofax)

Storm Sinks Sail Vessel; 13 Rescued

Four Teen-Aged Students, Captain's Wife, Cook Drown

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A square-rigged student cruise ship sank in a furious Gulf of Mexico squall Tuesday, trapping and drowning six persons below deck, including a woman physician who was the skipper's wife.

News of the tragedy that befell the "floating classroom," a stately two-masted brigantine named the Albatross, came Wednesday when the Dutch freighter Gran Rio picked up 13 survivors in lifeboats.

Among the rescued was Christopher B. Sheldon, 34, the vessel's captain, who told by radio of his 200-ton sailing ship's end.

"The storm hit without warning," he said. "There was no chance to get off a distress message. Those below deck had no chance to escape. The ship sank in a minute."

Captain's Wife Lost

Most of those aboard were teen-aged sons of wealthy parents. Listed as lost, besides Dr. Alice Sheldon, 30, the captain's wife, were four of the students and a cook.

The 13 survivors aboard the Dutch freighter are due to land at Tampa, Fla., Thursday. Besides the captain, they include two teachers and 10 boy students ranging in age from 15 to 17.

The end of the 92-foot vessel, from Mystic, Conn., was sudden and tragic. When the subtropical storm struck at 9 a.m., she went down in a minute, in 1,000 fathoms of water, according to word received by the Coast Guard.

Six persons were trapped below decks, but the winds wrenched lifeboats free and left them floating, enabling the 13 survivors to board them.

Educational Venture

With violent thunderheads overhead, they rode out the night in the vicinity of the tragedy, about 180 miles northwest of Key West. Then the freighter hove into sight at 8 a.m. today and picked them up.

The Albatross, one of the last of the brigantines, was an educational venture which combined the rugged work of seamanship with instruction in educational subjects, ranging from mathematics to Spanish.

Coast Guard planes continued to search the area around the sinking, despite word from Sheldon that he feared further hunt for survivors would be hopeless.

The Albatross was owned by the Ocean Academy, Ltd., of Darien, Conn., and took youngsters on months-long cruises. Its schedule called for voyages to Portugal, Naples, the Canary Islands and the West Indies.

Britain Gives Diplomat-Spy 42-Year Term

LONDON (UPI) — A British diplomat "brainwashed" by his Communist captors in the Korean War, pleaded guilty Wednesday to spying for Russia ever since. He was sentenced to 42 years in prison—the stiffest such penalty ever imposed by Britain in peacetime.

George Blake, 48, said to have been one of the "bright boys" of the British foreign office, appeared in Old Bailey. The prosecution said he had given the Russians a mass of "very important" information in 9½ years of thorough espionage.

Attorney General Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller told the court that the suave diplomat made a "full confession" after his arrest in Beirut, Lebanon, three weeks ago. He quoted Blake as declaring in a statement:

"I must freely admit that there was not an official document of any kind to which I had access which was not passed on to my Soviet contact."

"In short, the attorney-general said, "he has for the last 9½ been engaged in betraying his country . . . he has done the most serious damage to the interests of this country."

It was the second big spy case in Britain this year. In March five persons—including a Russian, two Americans and two civilian employes of Britain's key Portland Naval Base—were convicted of operating a spy ring with direct links to Moscow. All received prison terms ranging from 15 to 25 years.

A foreign office spokesman said Blake was serving as vice-consul in Korea when invading North Koreans captured and interned him in July, 1950.

Blake was released by the Communists in April, 1953, and came home to a hero's welcome in England. The prosecution told the court he voluntarily began betraying Britain in 1951, apparently while in Communist hands.

College Student Innocent In City Hall Riot Case

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A jury Wednesday found college student Robert Meisenbach innocent in an assault case arising out of last year's city hall riots against the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Meisenbach, 23, was one of 64 persons arrested May 13, 1960, during violence which broke out when 150 persons, many of them students, were refused admittance into the committee's hearing room. Police used fire hoses to disperse them.

Charges were dismissed against all those arrested except Meisenbach, who was accused of taking a police officer's club away from him and hitting the officer on the head with it.

Captured Youth Admits Slaying Neighbor Girls

KADOKA, S.D. (AP) — A Michigan youth hunted since Sunday, has admitted the rifle slaying of two young neighbor girls.

James Scott Stephens, 16, of Holland, Mich., was arrested Tuesday night while hitchhiking through Kadoka, a town of 840 in west-central South Dakota.

South Dakota Crime Bureau agent Don Licht said Wednesday night the admission came at the end of a day of questioning during which Stephens had first denied being the youth in question.

The youth had been sought since the disappearance of Margaret Chambers, 12, and Carol Gee, 11, whose bullet-riddled bodies later were found buried under leaves near their homes.

A newspaper picture of the youth led to his arrest. Police Chief Alvin Baldwin picked the boy up about midnight Tuesday after noting the resemblance.

Stephens had left a note at the home of his stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kerb, in which the boy told of involvement in an accidental shooting of two persons.

The boy said he had hitched rides to northern Michigan and then westward.

Michigan authorities earlier had said a .22-caliber rifle found in the Kerb attic was the weapon used in the deaths of the girls.

Killer Of Judge, Wife Receives Death Sentence

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Floyd A. Holzapfel, confessed killer of Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth and his wife, was sentenced Wednesday to die in Florida's electric chair.

Circuit Judge Russell O. Morrow complimented Holzapfel for his aid to the state in solving the Chillingworth mystery, but he told him he could show him no mercy, such as the convicted mastermind of the 1955 slayings received from a jury.

Joseph A. Peel Jr., convicted of ordering Holzapfel to carry out the murders, started a life term in State Prison last week. A jury's mercy recommendation saved him from the chair.

Morrow called the crime "gruesome, vicious, cold-blooded, premeditated, the like of which Florida has never seen."

At Peel's recent trial, Holzapfel testified that the former West Palm Beach city judge ordered him to kill Chillingworth because Peel feared exposure of racketeering in which he and Holzapfel were engaged.

Chillingworth and his wife, Marjorie, were abducted from their home in June 1955 and drowned in the Atlantic Ocean, Holzapfel said.

Robber Yields To Conscience

TORONTO (AP) — Kenneth Albert Kirkley, 32, was charged with bank robbery after walking up to a policeman on a street Tuesday night and saying: "I've committed a couple of bank robberies and I want to confess. I want to get it off my chest. I want to be able to sleep at night."

Kirkley told police he robbed a downtown bank of $1,900 last Friday and held up another Toronto bank in 1958 for $1,400. He said he had spent the $1,900 in less than a week on "wine, women and song."

Minimum Pay Hike Comeback Victory Scored By Kennedy

Congress Approves $1.25 Pay Base

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy scored a comeback legislative victory Wednesday when Congress approved a $1.25 minimum wage bill that would bring 3.6 million new workers under the wage and hour law for the time.

The administration lured enough Southern Democrats away from the Republican-Dixie Democratic coalition to steer the measure through the House 230-196. The Senate had passed it on a 64-28 roll call vote earlier in the day.

The measure, which now goes to the President for his signature, was custom-tailored to reverse the administration's only major congressional defeat. In March the House had voted for a $1.15 minimum and much more limited coverage.

The compromise bill would raise the present $1 minimum to $1.15 within four months for the 23.9 million workers now covered by the wage-hour law. Their minimum would go to $1.25 two years later.

Most of these employes, chiefly in factory and distribution jobs, already earn more than the minimum. The initial increase to $1.15 would add $336 million a year to the paychecks of the 1.9 million employes now earning less than that figure.

Newly-covered employes, most of them in retail stores, would get a $1 minimum to start and would move to $1.25 in three steps over about 4½ years. They would be brought under the 40-hour week in the same manner.

The legislation becomes effective four months after it is signed by the President.

In the crucial House showdown, 197 Democrats and 33 Republicans voted for the bill. Opposing it were 138 Republicans and 58 Democrats.

Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., called the vote a "substantial victory" that should help smooth the way for the rest of the Kennedy program. Asked for his assessment, Rep. William Ayres, R-Ohio, leader of the conservative coalition, said: "We don't have the White House."

Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg said he was "delighted and highly gratified." He called the bill "a great advance in our nation's social legislation."

Voting for the bill in the Senate were 48 Democrats and 16 Republicans. Opposing it were 15 Republicans and 13 Democrats, all from the South.

AF Told Tower Shaky 3 Days Before Collapse

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force said Wednesday it was warned that Texas radar tower No. 4 was in serious shape three days before the structure collapsed in a storm off the New Jersey coast last Jan. 15, killing all 28 occupants.

Joseph V. Charyk, undersecretary of the Air Force, told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee the warning came from an architects-engineering firm at a Jan. 12 meeting.

Another witness, Navy Capt. John J. Albers, described the tragic loss as "more an act of God than of man." Albers, of the Navy civil engineering corps, said he was responsible for design of the tower, as well as that of Texas towers No. 2 and No. 3 which still are operating.

Charyk traced the history of the ill-fated tower and its batterings by a series of storms, including Hurricane Donna on Sept. 12 last year, and of efforts to repair the structure starting back in 1958. The tower was nicknamed "Old Shaky" long before it fell into the ocean.

When Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., brought out from Charyk that the Air Force had been warned, Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., cut off the questioning.

Stennis said the subcommittee had agreed to carry only up to Jan. 12 its investigation into reasons for the tower's collapse. The subcommittee is looking particularly into charges that the structure was weak.

But it is not going beyond Jan. 12 so as not to interfere with Air Force proceedings in connection with failure to evacuate the men on the tower before it collapsed. A colonel and two majors face charges in this connection.

First Written Test For Peace Corps May 27

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first written test for Peace Corps candidates will be given throughout the United States on May 27, officials announced Wednesday.

"There will be no such mark as a passing score," the announcement said.

"Different projects will require different abilities, and someone who scores low in one area may score so well in others that he becomes the ideal person to pick for the assignment."

The May 27 test will be for volunteers desiring assignment as elementary school teachers, teachers of English in non-English-speaking areas, farm or animal husbandry workers, engineers, surveyors and geologists.

Estimating that 7,500 will take the examination, a spokesman said it will mark the initial step in the selection of workers for the first Peace Corps project — a secondary roads survey in parts of Tanganyika, Africa.

The project will require 20 surveyors, four geologists and four civil engineers.

Newswoman Leaves Jail

DENVER (UPI)—Reporter Vi Murphy, 35, jailed 30 days for refusing to reveal a news source, walked out through the iron gates of Denver County jail Wednesday and said, "I'd do it again if I had to."

The newspaperwoman said the issue that resulted in her jail sentence, imposed by the Colorado Supreme Court, remained "between me, them (the news source) and God, and that's where it's going to stay."

Mrs. Murphy, mother of four and reporter for the Colorado Springs Gazette Telegraph, was cited for contempt by the State Supreme Court on Oct. 26. She was sentenced to jail after she refused to tell the court where she received a copy of a petition accusing a former State Chief Justice of accepting a $3,500 bribe.

The U.S. Supreme Court refused to hear her appeal, and she entered county jail April 3.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —Adlai E. Stevenson said Wednesday that as U. S. chief delegate to the United Nations "I sometimes yearn for the simple brutalities of bipartisan politics."

The 1952-56 Democratic presidential nominee told the U. S. Committee for the United Nations that was his feeling after "a most lively three months, latterly with Cuba, the Congo and now Laos."

Squalls Forecast Friday May Delay Space Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A forecast of squalls in the Atlantic cast doubt Wednesday on whether astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. will be able to make his pioneer flight into space this week.

U.S. space scientists set their sights on Friday for the man-in-space attempt, delayed Tuesday by foul weather.

But the U.S. Weather Bureau said widely scattered squalls are expected for the next few days over Florida and offshore areas. The disturbances were more likely over the capsule recovery zone than over the launch site here, the bureau said.

Cloudiness also is due to start building up again Friday. Winds were expected to be light and seas relatively quiet.

Shepard and his backup space pilot, John H. Glenn Jr., were reported "boning up" on the various factors bearing on the space flight mission—the weather which already has caused one delay and the progress on preparing the Redstone rocket and space capsule.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Shepard, who with Glenn is spending his time at astronaut headquarters on the Cape, has indicated he intends to get some rest and perhaps some exercise to keep from losing his edge.

Murder Of 24 U.N. Soldiers Indicated

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — A high United Nations source said Wednesday that bodies of 24 Ghanian U. N. soldiers — apparently shot or beheaded after capture — have been found in the river at Port Franqui where Congolese soldiers routed the outnumbered U.N. garrison in a week-end battle.

Seventeen other Ghanian U. N. troops still were missing following the fighting at the central Congo town and little hope remained they would be found alive.

The bodies recovered in the Kasai River at Port Franqui raised the known death toll to 27 in the battle between hundreds of Congolese troops and several score U. N. soldiers.

Adolph Eichmann Linked To Warsaw Bloodbath

JERUSALEM (AP)—The prosecution Wednesday introduced evidence in the trial of Adolf Eichmann directly linking him to the tragic chain of events that led to the doomed Warsaw ghetto uprising against the Nazis in 1943.

Prosecutor Gideon Hausner held back his evidence until the end of a day of moving testimony from witnesses who took part in the desperate Jewish rebellion against numerically superior and better-armed German troops in the conquered Polish capital.

Hausner introduced a copy of the minutes of a meeting Eichmann attended with Nazi Foreign Ministry officials in April 1942.

The minutes showed that Eichmann asked Foreign Ministry representatives to consent "or to say there is no objection to extending all security police measures which may be necessary in the interest of preserving public order in the Warsaw ghetto to all inmates."

Agreement of the ministry was required, Hausner said, because Jews of foreign nationality had been trapped in the ghetto when the Nazis sealed it off shortly after the 1939 invasion of Poland.

Some Nazi diplomats were concerned about these nationals, other documents introduced by Hausner showed. Hausner also submitted documents in which Eichmann reported foreign nationals would be evacuated from the ghetto.

The prosecutor implied that Eichmann's request for Foreign Ministry approval of maximum security measures was, in effect, a method of clearing obstacles to permit a Gestapo clampdown on the ghetto, where half a million Jews lived as virtual prisoners.

Rusk Briefs Senators On Cuba "Disaster"

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk Wednesday gave some two score senators a briefing on Cuba which was said to have minced no words about the "disaster" aspect of the recent invasion attempt.

But he said the ill-fated anti-Castro landings may have served one useful purpose by alerting the rest of Latin America to the dangers of Communist inroads.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which sponsored the briefing, told reporters afterward that Rusk "makes no bones about the fact that it was a disaster."

President Of GE Denies Any Part In Price-Fixing

WASHINGTON (AP) — How could sales people have fixed prices behind Robert Paxton's back while he was president of General Electric? "I must be pretty damn dumb," he replied Wednesday.

Paxton, who officially retires at the end of this month, told the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee he had given subordinates explicit instructions "to have no truck" with deals to fix prices.

But, the witness continued, his sales people evidently "went underground" and disobeyed his orders.

Paxton testified he found out about price-fixing 25 years ago and decided then "I'd have nothing to do with such monkey business." And, he added, he kept his pledge.

"It became rather generally known that I wasn't receptive to that kind of conduct," said Paxton, who took a leave of absence from General Electric in January because of ill health.

At one point, Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., the subcommittee chairman, interrupted the testimony to accuse Paxton of covering up for Arthur F. Vinson, GE's executive vice president. Vinson was indicted in the government's recent price-fixing case, but the charges were dropped.

Kefauver said Paxton didn't cross-examine Vinson in 1959 even after he was accused by a GE employe of taking part in price-fixing.

"I get no impression except that you were covering up for him," Kefauver said.

Replied Paxton: "I categorically deny the accusation."

On the matter of Paxton's orders to subordinates, Kefauver asked the witness why the orders weren't obeyed.

"I may have had competition," Paxton said.

Who?

"Mr. Ginn said it was Mr. Erben."

Paxton was referring to the testimony Tuesday of William S. Ginn, a dismissed vice president of GE.

Ginn testified he took part in illegal meetings with competitors at the direction of the late Henry V. Erben, executive vice president of GE.

Tawes Holds Up Bill Tightening Idle Pay Rules

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Labor Wednesday mounted a last-ditch effort to block a bill tightening certain qualifications for receiving jobless benefits in Maryland.

Gov. Tawes agreed before signing 267 bills and 33 joint resolutions from the recent General Assembly to hold back the bill which labor had fought bitterly at the 90-day session.

He told W. F. Strong, president of the Maryland D. C. AFL-CIO, that he will hear his arguments against the measure Friday. It was understood Tawes advised Strong he plans to sign the bill unless there are compelling arguments against it.

Labor succeeded in watering down the legislation which raises maximum weekly pay for jobless persons from $35 to $38 but would have denied payment of benefits to persons who voluntarily quit work, are fired or are not actively seeking employment.

As amended, the bill gives the director of the Department of Employment Security discretion over whether payments should be continued in such cases. Strong denounced the bill as "regressive" and said the state should be liberalizing benefits for the unemployed instead of restricting them.

The governor's mammoth bill signing session cleared away all but 48 bills which were enacted at the 1961 General Assembly. He will act on these at a session set for 5 p.m. next Monday. Approximately 20 are expected to be vetoed.

Among bills becoming law under Tawes' signature Wednesday was the bill which will extend Maryland's sales tax to purchases of 25 cents and apply it to restaurant meals costing more than $1 after June 1. At present the tax starts at 51 cents and all food is exempt.

He also approved bills legalizing sale of two items previously denied Maryland citizens—ice milk and exploding caps for toy pistols. They may be bought after June 1.

Among other bills signed were measures to:

Contribute $1.5 million for matching federal grants and private funds in the construction of nursing homes.

Raise the base pay and improve longevity allowances for State Police.

Authorize construction of a $1.5 million bridge to Assateague Island, Maryland's last 23 miles of undeveloped ocean front.

Give Patuxent Institution, the psychiatric prison for defective delinquents, its own governing board.

Place the departments of mental hygiene and health under a single board.

Transfer the department of research and education to the University of Maryland as a new institute of natural resources.

Expand Baltimore City's new Municipal Court to 15 judges and create a Metropolitan Transit Authority for the area.

It was announced that two of Tawes' vetoes of remaining bills will be those which would remove two of the extra hats Dr. H. C. Byrd now wears as chairman of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission.

One calls on the governor, instead of the TFC, to name a permanent director for the fisheries department, a post Byrd has been filling on an "acting" basis for the 23 months the new commission has been in office.

The other veto deals with a bill which would change the law now providing that the director of tidewater fisheries automatically be chairman of the Board of Natural Resources.

Cuba Reports Rebel Civilian Leader Seized

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro's government Wednesday capped its defeat of the Cuban invasion two weeks ago by announcing the capture of Manuel Artime, top civilian leader of the exile expeditionary force.

At the same time Cubans learned of Castro's plan to send 1,000 youths to Russia to study agriculture and to bring in 300 more Soviet technicians to help his government's industrial development program.

His announcement, printed in the government press Wednesday, was made Tuesday night at a dinner which he tendered to the foreign delegates who came here for Monday's mammouth May Day celebration.

Artime, a member of the U.S.-based seven-man Cuban exile Revolutionary Council, is the highest-ranking prisoner taken by Castro's army and militia which captured about 1,000 of the invaders in a three-day battle that ended April 19.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Wednesday arranged to meet next Tuesday with representatives of the nation's newspaper publishers, editors and wire services to discuss his call for self-restraint in handling news involving security matters.

The White House said Kennedy will meet with the group at the White House at 11 a.m. EDT. He acted in response to a telegram from the press representatives requesting the discussion.

The announcement said the group would consist of:

Tennant Bryan and Irwin Maier, ANPA directors; Felix McKnight, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE); Turner Catledge and Lee Hills, ASNE directors; Frank H. Mathieson To Move 700 From Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Olin Mathieson Chemical Co. will move 700 employes from Baltimore to New York by mid-1962, The Baltimore News-Post said Wednesday.

A gradual exodus will begin in August, the paper said, and the firm eventually will vacate nine floors of the 32-story Mathieson Building in downtown Baltimore.

The transfer of the chemicals division to New York will not affect the 650 persons employed at the company's industrial plant in South Baltimore.

Two Young Men Perish When Boat Capsizes

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (AP) —State Police Wednesday recovered the body of a young fisherman and his boat, which capsized in the Susquehanna River Tuesday and caused the death of a companion.

The 18-foot wooden skiff was pulled ashore south of Turkey Point in the upper bay. Inside was the body of James Taylor Strowgune, 21.

Police said the boat and the victim had been sighted earlier by a departmental helicopter during a search near the mouth of the Susquehanna. Flights over the area in search for the other victim, Henry P. Thompson, 23, will resume Thursday, weather permitting, police said.

Strowgune, his brother Stanley, 17, and Thompson were thrown into the Susquehanna during a fishing expedition. Stanley managed to swim to safety after drifting aimlessly for several hours.

He told police his brother died in his arms, apparently from exertion and exposure. He said Thompson also went down and never reappeared.

Stanley told police the three went fishing in the Susquehanna Monday night about a mile east of Havre de Grace. He said they were pulling in their nets about 5:30 a.m. Tuesday when a strong gust of wind caused the 18-foot craft to capsize, spilling them into the water.

They righted the boat, Stanley said, but it was partially filled with water. He said he saw his brother slip to the bottom of the craft about 8 a.m., went to his aid and found him dead.

Later the boat capsized a second time, throwing Stanley and Thompson into the choppy waters. Stanley said Thompson slipped below the water's surface and did not reappear.

Young Strowgune told police he swam to safety when the boat came within 200 yards of shore.

Stanley was admitted to Memorial Hospital in Havre de Grace after he contacted State Police from a nearby farm house. He was treated for exposure and shock.

Stewart joins Austin E. Penn, president of Baltimore Gas and Electric Co., as a new board member. Penn's election was announced earlier.

The discussion is included on the agenda of the annual convention of the Department of Maryland Reserve Officers Association.

SNOW HILL, Md. (AP) — The body of a Snow Hill man who had been missing since April 1 was found submerged in the shallow waters of a swamp near here Tuesday.

The Worcester County deputy medical examiner, Dr. N. E. Sartorious, said the victim, Harry James Rowley Jr., 42, apparently drowned after an epileptic seizure.

FREDERICK (AP) — Funeral services will be held Friday at St. John's Catholic Church here for Mrs. Laura Ruth Carlisle McCardell, granddaughter of a late Kentucky congressman and cabinet member.

Mrs. McCardell died Wednesday at Frederick Memorial Hospital at the age of 74. She was the wife of Albert N. McCardell, a retired Frederick businessman.

Her grandfather, John G. Carlisle, served as a congressman from Kentucky from 1877-1890 and was Speaker of the House three times. After serving three years as senator, from 1890-1893, Carlisle was appointed secretary of the treasury by President Grover Cleveland.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. Max K. Baklor will be installed as president of the Maryland State Dental Association during its annual convention opening here Sunday.

Dr. Baklor, a graduate of the University of Maryland Dental School, will be installed with other new officers on May 10, the final day of the convention.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A two-alarm fire early Wednesday destroyed a storm window manufacturing firm in suburban Whitemarsh.

The blaze at the single-story plant ofAcadia Manufacturing Co. was reported before the firm opened for the day.

About 40 firemen from four companies fought the flames but succeeded only in containing them in the one building. Damage was estimated at $150,000.

SILVER SPRING (AP) — William D. Moyers, associate director for public affairs of the Peace Corps, will address the high school and college section of the spring convention of the Maryland Association of Future Teachers of America.

Moyers, the youngest person appointed to an executive position in the administration of President Kennedy, will discuss the operations of the Peace Corps. The convention will be held May 13 at Springbrook High School in Silver Spring.

Initial Food Stamps To Be Issued Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's food stamp program for needy families is just about on schedule and the first stamps should be issued early next month, an Agriculture Department spokesman said Wednesday.

Under the program, the government will issue stamps to needy persons who may use them to buy food in grocery stores. The stores then redeem the stamps for cash from the government.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman two months ago designated eight areas where the plan will be tested before being applied elsewhere.

One of these, McDowell County in West Virginia, already has begun screening applicants for this aid.

In McDowell County, as of Wednesday, 772 families had been approved for food stamps from among the 935 who applied during the first week. Applications have averaged 200 a day.

The applicants represent more than 2,600 persons from 12 communities, said Mrs. Grace Strain of the Department of Public Assistance.

Applicants have qualified for $38,633 worth of stamps, she said. Of this amount, the applicants will contribute $16,928 in cash.

The other pilot areas include Fayette County, Pennsylvania.

The amount of aid available to each family depends on its financial situation. Some families are eligible for enough stamps to fill all their food needs and others are eligible for partial aid.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk will hold a news conference at 4 p.m .EDT Thursday.

GOP Senators To Back JFK When 'Merited'

BALTIMORE (AP)—Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts said Wednesday night the Republican Conference of Senators "will largely stand with the President" on foreign policy, but must oppose him on domestic issues when his "programs contradict our principles."

Saltonstall is chairman of the conference. He said the Republicans have a "delicate task which must attempt to strike the dynamic balance between hard criticism when it is called for and solid support when it is merited.

"Without dissent—which is this case is the minority party in Congress—there is dictatorship.'

"We will not obstruct for its own sake, we will not rubber stamp in any event."

Saltonstall, in an address for a money raising dinner by Baltimore City Republicans, said "above all, the loyal opposition must develop programs of its own, to deal in 'our' terms rather than exclusively with regard to theirs."

Saltonstall added:

"The Republican party emphasizes the principle of voluntary rather than compulsory participation in federal aid programs, while the Democrats do not.

"We stressed the concept of equality of opportunity among our citizens rather than the more recent 'everyone gets the same deal' tendency to emphasize automatic equality, in which our Democratic colleagues frequently indulge."

Maryland elections to be decided next year are one U. S. senator, governor, comptroller, attorney general, eight U.S. representatives — including one for a new congressional district, and the legislature.

The U.S. senator seeking reelection is Republican John Marshall Butler. One of the seven incumbent representatives, Charles Mc. Mathias of Frederick, is a Republican while the party has only three of 29 state senators and seven of 123 delegates.

So far, the guessing on the probable Republican candidate for governor has been scant. Most often mentioned is Theodore R. McKeldin, chief executive for two terms who failed in an effort to return as mayor of Baltimore City in 1959.

In last year's presidential election, Baltimore City votes carried Maryland for Democrat John F. Kennedy. Republican Richard M. Nixon had a majority of 1,777 in the 23 counties, but lost the city by 88,047.

The ancient Chinese divided the time of their day into 100 parts instead of the 24 that we do.

Brewer Slated To Head Savings, Loan Department

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — J. Newton Brewer, Montgomery County Democratic leader and a member of Gov. Tawes' official family, is reported in line to head the new board which will regulate Maryland's savings and loan industry.

The governor is expected to soon name the membership of the seven-man agency which was created by the 1961 Maryland legislature.

The bill bringing savings and loan associations under state regulation for the first time will take effect June 1.

Brewer currently is the governor's administrative assistant in charge of public safety. Sources close to the administration say it is probable he will be named to the policy board for the newly created Department of Building, Savings and Loan Associations.

Dorf Sworn In

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Paul A. Dorf, former chief magistrate of Baltimore's traffic court, was sworn in Wednesday as state senator from the city's 5th District. He succeeds Aaron A. Baer who was appointed to the new Baltimore Municipal Court.

Dorf is the son-in-law of James H. Pollack, Northwest Baltimore Democratic leader, and was named by the 5th District Democratic State Central Committee which Pollack controls.

Baltimore Bar Group Proposes Judges

BALTIMORE (AP)—The judiciary committee of the Bar Association of Baltimore Wednesday recommended nine lawyers for federal judgeships, including six who already had been recommended by the Maryland State Bar Association.

Two judges would be added to Maryland's U.S. District Court in Baltimore under a compromise bill worked out by Senate-House conferees in Washington Tuesday.

The six names proposed by both bar groups include Franklin G. Allen, Rignal W. Baldwin, H. Vernon Eney, Frank A. Kaufman, John Henry Lewin and Harrison L. Winter, the Baltimore City solicitor.

The additions offered by the city association were Richard F. Cleveland, son of the late President Grover Cleveland; Judge Anselm Sodaro of Baltimore Circuit Court, and Edwin J. Wolf, retiring president of the city bar association.

Mayor H. Harold Grady of Baltimore was not recommended by either the state or city bar group. He reportedly has been quietly maneuvering for a judgeship appointment.

A list of recommendations by the Federal Bar Association is expected to be announced Friday.

Castro Violates Moscow Doctrine By Proclaiming Cuba Socialist State

EDITOR'S NOTE — Prime Minister Fidel Castro has declared Cuba to be a "Socialist" state. From his background knowledge of Soviet affairs, William L. Ryan, Associated Press foreign news analyst, tells what it means.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
The Associated Press

Fidel Castro is violating Moscow doctrine in proclaiming Cuba a "Socialist" state in the Soviet sense of the word.

Castro has jumped the gun by years. By Soviet doctrine he has a long way to go before reaching what the Soviet Communists call socialism. He could even be accused of deviationism—veering away from party dogma.

By Communist reasoning, it goes this way:

A state first must go through a "national liberation movement" or a proletarian uprising to cut its ties with "imperialism" and reach the stage of "dictatorship of the proletariat."

The state then must go through the process of "building socialism." It took almost 40 years before the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics claimed to have "built socialism." The Socialist state, by Soviet doctrine, is the last step before achieving communism, under which the people are promised the state apparatus will wither away and the rule will be "to each according to his needs, from each according to his ability." For the U.S.S.R., says Soviet Premier Khrushchev, that is still a long way off.

Only the U.S.S.R. and Czechoslovakia, of all nations ruled by communism, can claim to have achieved socialism by Communist party standards. Hungary, Romania, Poland, Bulgaria and Albania, the European satellites, call themselves "peoples' democracies," meaning they still have not "built socialism." Communist North Viet Nam and North Korea call themselves "democratic republics," and Red China calls itself a "people's republic." All are years away from the Soviet standard of socialism.

By Red doctrine, Cuba would have a long road to travel, both economically and socially, before being able to claim to have reached the same stage of development as the Soviet Union.

Boost For Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic leaders in Congress said Tuesday they believed the administration was doing as well as could be expected in the current session.

Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., evaluated the administration's progress in Congress after meeting with President Kennedy at a White House breakfast.

Rayburn said he thought the administration had made measurable progress in its first 100 days in office. Mansfield said he thought the administration was "doing as well as can be expected" in Congress.

"Miracle" Kennedy Survived PT Sinking

SINGAPORE (UPI)—An eyewitness to the wartime sinking of President Kennedy's torpedo boat has described his survival as "a miracle."

Capt. Tora Nakajima, master of the freighter Ikushima Maru, told newsmen Tuesday he was a navigator of the Japanese destroyer Amagiri which rammed Kennedy's PT boat off the Solomon Islands on Aug. 9, 1943.

Nakajima recalled it was "pitch dark" and the Japanese destroyer was escorting a convoy of troop transports to Rabaul.

"Suddenly we spotted the PT boat looming up. There was no time to maneuver the destroyer. We rammed the PT boat, cutting it in half. It immediately caught fire and exploded," he said.

Nakajima said the small wooden boat was "blown to fragments. We never expected any survivors."

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street seems happy with a calmer stock market.

The wild trading of recent weeks has subsided and some of the interest in highly speculative stocks has waned.

The brokerage firm, Shields & Co., says that during the market's recent rocket flight from reality investors appeared to be blind to bad news.

Poor fourth-quarter corporate earnings reports were ignored, warnings of possibly poorer first-half reports went largely unheeded, technical factors ruled the day and international troubles no longer seemed to cause much concern, it adds.

"At some point the market had to become vulnerable," Shields says, "that point, we believe, was reached within the past few weeks. Although the economy did continue along a course of recovery, bad news from Cuba and Algeria, coupled with growing doubt about Laos, began to chip away at excess confidence.

"Significantly, the market has begun to pay more attention to current earnings reports and management comment on near-term prospects. The market lately seems to be shifting to a more practical basis."

Make no mistake about it, says Gerard Gersen of Wall Street International, the long-range trend of the stock market is still up.

The tipoff, he thinks, was the manner in which prices snapped back when it became apparent that France wasn't going to have a long and costly revolution.

"Large institutional investors had simply been waiting for a dip in order to scoop up stocks they wanted at advantageous prices," he says.

"There is plenty of money on tap, ready to come into the market whenever investment opportunities appear. This great pool of demand is what is causing the market boom. It is simply larger than the supply of attractive stocks."

To the million or so people who annually visit Mount Vernon, George Washington's home by the Potomac presents scenes of a long-lost country way of life. One item of interest is Martha's "Grate cake" recipe, preserved in the estate's museum. It starts out, "Take 40 eggs . . . work four pounds of butter."

Woman To Woman

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following dispatch from the home-front concerns moving day — an experience for Mrs. McCormick for the fifth time in 10 years. Since this week traditionally is moving week across the nation so this dispatch is dedicated to the thousands of other females engaged in similar battles at the moment.

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

HOMEFRONT, U.S.A. (UPI) — The secret to a smooth move of the household is simple.

Just keep your husband on the go. Don't let him sit down or even have a decent number of coffee breaks.

Let him do all the heavy work and most of the dirty work.

As every female knows, it's woman's work to handle the mental and emotional doings involved in moving.

Five transfers of the household in 10 years make me some kind of authority on the subject.

The first time we moved — in Frankfort, Ky. — I foolishly did my fair share of packing, lifting, toting.

The second time — from Frankfort to Pittsburgh, Pa. — I did some packing and lifting. He toted.

On each subsequent move I managed to assume more of the brainwork and less of the brawnwork.

This day, for example, I'm killing one entire morning trying to decide what to keep and what to toss out in a big brown bag the professional movers accidentally packed with care the last time we moved.

At this critical moment in decision-making it's no help to remember that the movers were supposed to discard the bag five years ago.

Contents include:

—A memo from an eye doctor reminding me to report for an examination.

—A letter dated June 1955 from Pat Joyce Aaron, the social butterfly of my Pittsburgh, Pa., high school class, inviting me to a "ten year reunion."

—A one-year car insurance policy taken out in 1949 in Baltimore, Md., by my mate before we were married.

—A box of tacks, a half-full bottle of glue, a 1954 Pennsylvania Railroad press identification card.

—A white paper bag with "a gift from a Kentucky state park" written on the outside. Contents include a menu from Talbott tavern operating in Bardstown, Ky., since 1779 and souvenirs from "My Old Kentucky Home."

—An empty perfume bottle, an unopened can of ight tan boot polish, and a partially completed "Accounting Fundamentals" workbook from college.

While I'm straining my brain with decisions about these curios, my mate, as per blueprint, keeps moving.

So far, he's made 11 trips to the Darien, Conn., town incinerator.

Each time the station wagon has been loaded in a way that would surprise even the auto makers in their most optimistic mood.

Sometimes, though, he takes things without warning me.

Like yesterday. He accidentally incinerated a box containing my wedding dress.

That was my cue to get emotional.

BURNED OUT—Firemen fight a losing battle against a two-alarm blaze which destroyed the Acadia Manufacturing Corp. on Route 40, east of Baltimore and near White Marsh, yesterday. No one was injured in the $150,000 fire, which destroyed the one-story storm door and window manufacuring company. (AP Photofax)

On Wrong Track

GENOA, Italy (UPI) — Three young men made a wrong turn at a curve and found they had driven into a railroad tunnel — with a train approaching. A guard at a grade crossing flagged down the train and two bus drivers who witnessed the accident rushed inside the tunnel and pushed the car back on the road.

9 Augustinian Priests Plan To Leave Cuba

VILLANOVA, Pa. (AP) — The Very Rev. James A. Donnellon, provincial of the Province of Villanova, which includes most of the United States and Cuba, said Tuesday nine priests of the Augustinian order of the Roman Catholic Church are leaving Cuba.

He said they include the Rev. Peter C. Hugnagel, 68, of McSherrytown, Adams County, Pa.

Father Donellon said "it is with extreme regret and feeling of sadness that we find ourselves forced to leave Cuba. . .by an edict of a government the Cuban people themselves do not control."

Escaped Buffalo Slain, Man Shot

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (UPI)— A buffalo headed for the slaughter house bolted and gained a brief stay of execution Tuesday, and the chase that followed resulted in gunshot wounds for a Muskogee man.

The animal was wounded by a rifle bullet that went through the buffalo and the door of a pick-up truck and struck Charles M. Baumgardner, 51.

Baumgardner, sitting inside the truck, suffered a flesh wound of the leg.

Finally, about an hour and a half after the escape, a policeman fired a shot that killed the buffalo.

Mrs. Mary Jane Lindsay was re-elected president; William Barr, vice president; Mrs. Muriel Stonebreaker, secretary; and Mrs. Margaret Sprigg, treasurer.

The club received one bid on uniforms for the band and it was decided to ask for additional ones.

Plans were completed for a spring festival. It is to be held on the blacktop in front of the high school June 9 and 10. A rummage sale also is planned and all citizens are asked to begin collecting donations. Proceeds from both events will be used for the uniforms.

It was announced that Mrs. Mary Chaney is starting plants for flower boxes. Proceeds will be given to the uniform fund. Orders will be taken by Mrs. Chaney or Mrs. Lindsay, RE 8-8810.

CAMPAIGN OPENS—The "Every Nurse Canvass" being sponsored by District 1, Maryland State Nurses in cooperation with the American Nurses Foundation, opened this week, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harriet Boore. It will be conducted all month. Taking part are Mrs. Ronald Screen and Mrs Raymond Lapp, who is shown giving a certificate to Mrs. Margaret Kelly.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. George Sellers, Chattanooga, Tenn., former residents of Cumberland, are visiting Mrs. P. W. Burke, 206 Seymour Street.

District 1 Starts Every Nurse Canvass

Captains for the "Every Nurse Canvass" have been appointed by Mrs. Harriet Boore, District 1, Maryland State Nurses Association, chairman for the "American Nurses Foundation" campaign. The canvass started this week.

The captains are for Memorial Hospital, Martha Catlett, Rose Simpson; Sacred Heart Hospital, Marietta Early, Margaret Wilt; public health, Vada McGann; office nurses, Colleen Lapp, Patricia Screen; Frostburg, Mary Michaels, Dorothy Miller. Business organizations and companies are being contacted by Wilhelmina Shockey; and out-of-town nurses belonging to District 1, by Kay Pellerzi.

Mrs. Boore asks that inactive nurses, dentists and doctors or any other person interested in sending conributions mail them to Margaret Lee Lynch, Sacred Heart Hospital, city.

The ANF campaign is for the month of May only.

Miss Alice Sundberg, director, Bureau of Public Health Nursing, Baltimore and Albert Hendler, president of the Hendler Creamery Company, have been named state co-chairmen for Maryland's part in the nationwide fund raising effort. The state goal is $25,000. The funds are being sought to enable the foundation to carry forward existing study programs and to introduce a number of new investigations in four vital areas of nursing research. In widening its research, the foundation will direct its activities toward promoting or conducting surveys and demonstrations in patient care and nursing practices; in studying the impact of changes taking place outside the nursing profession, such as the development of new drugs and equipment, new techniques and philosophies of health care; in examining requirements made on nursing care and in a variety of administrative units, including hospitals, clinics, public health agencies, industries, nursing and convalescent homes and physicians' offices; and obtaining a deeper understanding of patients and their nursing problems as they may be affected by attitudes, background and occupation.

"The practical results of these projects will be applied directly to the nursing shortage and relieving pain for sick and disabled," Mrs. Boore said last evening.

Opening lead: Queen of ♣

That perennial sermon on the evils of doubting slams has not recently been delivered from this pulpit. The extra 50 or 100 points that a close double may yield are poor compensation indeed for the advantage it may give declarer in determining the location and distribution of his opponents' strength.

South elected to open with one heart in order to get both suits in at the lowest possible level, in case of a possible misfit. North's second bid of two spades was probably as good as any available. Since he is the responder, the naming of a new suit by him is a one round force, and he can make up his mind what to do on the next round. When South jumped to three no trump North contracted for slam in diamonds, because he had more than an opening bid facing a partner who had opened and jumped.

West, in an effort to increase the revenue, made the double which is the basis of this discourse. He could hardly have hoped to defeat the contract more than one trick, and to his chagrin he defeated the contract exactly no tricks. Declarer concluded that the double was based on the king, queen, and another trump, and therefore planned to work out an end play which would succeed if West had to follow to three rounds of everything.

Two clubs were cashed immediately, ending in dummy, and the third one was ruffed in the closed hand. Three rounds of spades followed, as South discarded a heart. Declarer then cashed the ace, king of hearts and trumped a heart dummy. He next ruffed a fourth club with the seven of diamonds. At this point, West had his three diamonds and declarer had ace, ten, and eight. A low diamond was led toward dummy and West won with the queen, but that was the end.

Youth Is Jailed On Motor Charges

Charles Brotemarkle, 18, of Carpenter's Addition, Ridgeley, was sentenced to 45 days in the county jail at a hearing Tuesday before Magistrate Paul W. Barnett on motor vehicle charges preferred following an early morning chase Monday.

The youth was sentenced to 25 days in default of $100 fine after being found guilty of turning off his car's lights to avoid identification; to ten days in default of $25 for failure to obey the order of a police officer, and to 10 days in default of $25 fine for reckless driving.

The charges were preferred by City Officers James A. Swann and James Hershberger. The charges were preferred following a chase between Maryland Avenue and Harrison Street and Park and Williams streets.

The term restaurant was first used for an establishment opened in Paris in 1765.

Statue Of Bryan Finds Resting Place

SALEM, Ill. (UPI)— The "Great Commoner" can come home now.

His native town of Salem has finally found a plot of ground where the statue of William Jennings Bryan can stand without being a traffic hazard.

Bryan, three-times Democratic candidate for president and secretary of state under Woodrow Wilson, is by all odds Salem's most famous son. But his 6½-foot bronze statue had been in danger of becoming an orphan.

The statue once stood in a park in Washington. But it had to move to make way for a new bridge. The Department of the Interior, loath to confine the most silver-tongued orator of his time to a warehouse, offered to loan it to Salem.

Salem couldn't figure out what to do with it.

The local Daughters of the American Revolution wanted to see Bryan atop his 8-foot marble pedestal on the courthouse lawn at the intersection of U.S. 50 and Ill. 37. But the location was too prominent. The county board of supervisors feared it would get in the way of driver's vision.

From Nebraska, where Bryan spent most of his adult life, came an enthusiastic offer to take the great commoner off Salem's hands. Charles R. Hein, executive secretary of the Democratic State Central Committee, said "we would really welcome Mr. Bryan with open arms."

Meanwhile, the citizens of Salem had been busy. A petition signed by 575 of them asked that the statue be erected in a park on the north edge of town.

The city council met and decided it would be so.

Appropriately, the park is already known as the Bryan Memoral Park.

Nurse Home Patient Will Be 111 May 10

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)— The folks at Bellevue Manor Nursing Home are planning a birthday party for Benjamin Trimble, but finding room for the candles on the cake is presenting something of a problem.

Trimble will be 111 May 10.

Trimble, who saw his father sold on the slave market auction block one year before the Civil War began, is a patient at the home. But the supervisor, Mrs. Philip Williams said he's "about our healthiest patient."

"He's the only one here who isn't getting medication," she added. "He'll eat anything, but it has to be blended."

Trimble spends most of his time these days listening to hymns on his radio and reading the Bible—without glasses.

Beatnik In Tubnik

BRIGHTON, England (UPI) — College student Alan Witt, 21, said Thursday he would try to sail across the English Channel in June in a bathtub equipped with an outboard motor.

Americans Hit Tour Trail As Never Before

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI)—Americans are hitting the road this year as never before.

They have set out on a "see America" travel spree in which they are expected to spend $21.2 billion dollars before 1961 is out

Never before have so many Americans spent so much to see so many sites as they will take in this year, the American Express Company reports in a survey of state tourist offices, chambers of commerce and city visitor and convention bureaus.

Travel abroad receives considerable glamor publicity, but the folks who stay in the U.S.A. will spend 10 times more money in their touring, the survey showed.

Tourist expenditures on domestic travel last year totaled nearly $20.5 billion. The favorite sites were national parks, which received 67 million visitors; historic sites, such as Independence Hall in Philadelphia, Valley Forge, Pa., and Williamsburg, Va., and resorts and cities.

New York city remains the No 1 metropolitan tourist attraction in the country. American Express predicts 14 million vacationists will visit the big town and spend more than a billion dollars this year. The 7.5 million persons expected at Miami this year will spend nearly as much.

California remains a major tourist state but ranked fifth on the list of travel revenues in 1960. New York was first, with $2.5 billion; Florida, second, with $1.7 billion; New Jersey, third, with $1.6 billion; Pennsylvania, fourth, with $1.3 billion, and California, fifth, with $956 million.

Pets Stay Behind

LONDON (UPI) — When Lord De L'ise agreed to become governor general of Australia he didn't give to much thought to the pets collected by his daughters, Anne, 13, and Lucy, 8.

When the family left Tuesday for Australia they were forced by Australia's strict quarantine laws to leave behind Anne's pony, Lucy's donkey, two tortoises, a hedgehog and three dogs.

Future Queen Of Jordon Former Phone Operator

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The future queen of Jordan revealed Tuesday she once surveyed her new kingdom from behind a telephone switchboard.

The former Toni Avril Gardiner, 20-year-old English girl King Hussein has chosen as his second wife, told newsmen she was a telephone operator for a film company before meeting the ruler of this Mideast kingdom, and once took a secretarial course in England.

But it was clear the bride-to-be was not a working girl out of necessity. Her father, Col. W. P. Gardiner, is a technical expert with Hussein's Royal Jordanian Engineers. And the future queen in a news conference rattled off a list of private schools she attended in Britain and Malaya, where her father once was stationed.

She also revealed she already is thinking like a queen.

"I shall place myself at the service of this country," she pledged. She dressed plainly to meet newsmen, wearing a skirt and blouse.

Hussein, 25, announced his engagement Monday night in a nationwide broadcast, saying he wants a male heir to his throne. He divorced his first wife, Princess Dina Abdel Hamid, in 1957 after she bore him a daughter during their two years of marriage.

Miss Gardiner, who has taken the name Mona el Hussein and has become a Moslem, declined to speculate on a marriage date, but said her wedding trousseau was being prepared in Britain and would be "arriving shortly."

Special Session Legislature Is Being Discussed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Charleston Daily Mail said outright Wednesday that a special session of the West Virginia Legislature would be called this summer. Gov. W. W. Barron commented that it was news to him.

"Of course, circumstances could always change things," Barron said, "but as of now no special session of the Legislature is anticipated."

The Daily Mail story said the session would be called to try to tie in the governor's emergency employment program (EEP) with a new federal aid program.

The paper quoted State Public Assistance Director W. Bernard Smith as saying he believes the new federal aid program to needy children of unemployed workers can be combined with EEP with active by the Legislature.

The story said Barron probably would also ask the Legislature to extend the temporary penny increase in the consumer sales tax until mid-1962. The increase, used to finance $1 an hour jobs under EEP, is due to expire Aug. 31.

Contractors In Section To Elect New Officers

Permanent officers of the recently-organized Home Builders of Western Maryland will be elected at a dinner meeting today at 6:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, according to Ralph G. Cover, temporary chairman.

The program at tonight's meeting will feature a talk by Kinne R. Sutton, Washington, field representative of the National Association of Home Builders.

Cover said the organization was founded at a recent meeting attended by 32 representatives of the building industry, during which various problems of home construction and financing were discussed.

Cover said that following formal organization the unit will request representation on city and county zoning boards, and also organize a speakers' bureau so that problems of the building industry can be explained to various civic and business organizations.

Sutton, a graduate of Auburn University, will discuss nationwide industry problems and programs and their effect on housing in this area, Cover said.

Prior to joining the staff of the 42,000-member home building trade association, Sutton was executive vice president of the Home Builders Association of Georgia. Before that, he was vice president and general manager of Tekcraft Corporation, building and developing firm in Atlanta, Ga.

Tonight's meeting will be open to all home builders in the region, the temporary chairman stated.

Temporary members of the board of directors are C. E. Burgess, R. G. Robeson, Walter Growden and Marcellus Donahoe.

President John Adams appointed George Cabot of Beverly, Mass., the first secretary of the Navy, May 3, 1798, but he declined the office. Benjamin Stoddert was appointed the same day.

JOHN F. WHITE

John White To Head Kelly Sales Group

John F. White has been promoted to operations manager of the International Division of The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, effective immediately, according to Arthur A. Verner, vice president—international division.

White joined The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company in May 1934 when the export sales offices were in New York City. In 1935 he came to Cumberland when the New York offices were transferred here.

During World War II, he served three years, 1943 to 1945 in the Eighth Air Force Bombing Group, in charge of operations, while based in England.

August 1953 White was promoted to Kelly's export field sales and traveled extensively in South and Central American countries. He returned to the home office sales organization in 1960, serving in various capacities until his present promotion.

White resides at 207 Union Street.

Death Valley is said to have received its name from the fact that one-half the members of a party of gold seekers and their families died during an encampment there in 1850.

14 County Bills Signed Into Law By Gov. Tawes

Gov. J. Millard Tawes signed many bills into law yesterday, among them 14 Allegany County measures passed in the 1961 General Assembly.

Chief among these were two bills authorizing Cumberland and Frostburg to participate in federal urban renewal projects.

All 17 major cities in the state had individual bills allowing them to undertake these federal programs of tearing down old buildings and replacing them with modern housing, along with other city modernization projects.

House Bill 815 signed by Gov. Tawes was for Frostburg and House Bill 816 for Cumberland. Both were sponsored by the six-member House of Delegates delegation from this county.

Another measure made law by the governor's signature was House Bill 812 which extends for one year the appointment status of the director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Frank T. Powers of Frostburg. Powers has passed the retirement age of 70 years and in last year's session of the General Assembly a similar bill was authorized.

House Bill 919 signed by the governor rectifies the boundaries of the LaVale Sanitary District, correcting an area where the district overlaps with the Cresaptown special taxing district.

The measure, sponsored by the delegation at the backing of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association, also increases the amount for taxing purposes on real estate to finance a sewage system. The association had asked 25 cents on each $100 of assessed property valuation, but a compromise figure of 20 cents on each $100 was reached.

Another measure, also introduced by the six-member delegation, House Bill 920, prohibits issuance of certain alcoholic beverage licenses for chain stores and supermarkets.

House Bill 962, also made law yesterday, provides for the appointment of clerks for trial magistrates in Allegany County and sets their salaries.

A measure sponsored by Del. Fred B. Driscoll, delegation chairman, and signed was House Bill 251, changes the definition of "school bus" and prohibits the operation of unregistered school buses.

Other bills signed were:

House Bill 806, removes a requirement of the tax collector to file monthly lists of delinquent tax payers with the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

House Bill 810, increases the diameter of dip nets from three feet to four feet.

House Bill 833, authorizing the Allegany County Commissioners to sell any county property no longer needed for county use for hospital purposes.

Senate Bill 105 sponsored by State Sen. Charles M. See, specifying a minimum age for notaries public.

Senate Bill 572, sponsored by Sen. See, providing for an expense allowance for Allegany County Orphans Court Judges.

City To Advertise Comptroller Job

Cumberland will officially advertise for applicants for the position of comptroller on Friday, City Hall sources announced yesterday.

Qualifications for the position, recently established by the Civil Service Commission, set 50 years as the age limit and state the applicant must be a college graduate with a degree in business of public administration and specialization in accounting, plus two years experience in senior level accounting, or be a duly licensed certified public accountant.

The salary range is $6,682 to $8,112.

The position was created to secure a replacement for Arthur B. Gibson, who will retire in August as city auditor after 24 years of service with the city.

Plate glass mirrors were regarded as so valuable in colonial America that George Washington's mother specifically mentioned her mirror in her will, bequeathing it to her son.

Beer License Is Suspended At Zihlman

The beer license of Harry Stevens at Zihlman has been suspended until next Monday by the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners.

Stevens was found guilty of selling intoxicants on Sunday at a hearing recently and fined $250. The liquor board then cited him to a hearing yesterday.

Actually, Stevens has not had a license since May 1 as the new permits were not in force until then. The board members stated that Stevens had no previous violations and the fine he was assessed was taken into consideration.

He had applied for a new license renewal.

In his defense Stevens stated that a friend came into his place and he gave him some beer. Melvin Sloan, a board member, stated that from about noon to 3 p. m. was a "long drink."

The board also granted a beer and wine permit to Manson Durr, Rawlings. The license is for both on and off sale.

Yesterday's session was the first for the new board member, Milton Gerson, local attorney, who replaced Howard W. Vandegrift.

Cub Pack Plans Pinewood Derby

The annual pinewood derby will feature the last formal indoor meeting of the current season for LaVale Cub Scout Pack 10 to be held at 7:30 p. m. Friday, in LaVale Methodist Church.

All members of the pack will enter small model racing cars made by the cub scouts with the aid of their parents.

Plans for the final pack meeting of the year, an outdoor event to be held at the LaVale Park later in May, will be made at the Friday meeting. Tentative plans for the outdoor meet are based upon an Indian theme and include Indian games, war dances and outdoor cooking over bonfires.

Md. Workers Won't Pay W. Va. Tax

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The State Tax Department made it official Tuesday. West Virginia employers need not withhold the state's personal income tax from persons residing in Maryland and Virginia.

But income tax chief Clifford Lantz emphasized that residents of Maryland and Virginia working in West Virginia still must file returns to his division in order to secure the benefit of tax credit provisions.

These persons will not have to pay the West Virginia tax, Lantz said, but are liable for payment of the taxes levied by their home states.

Ridgeley Will Hold Primary Election Friday

The Town of Ridgeley will hold its biennial primary Friday at 7:30 p. m. at Ridgeley High School during which candidates for municipal positions will be selected.

Scheduled to be nominated are two candidates for mayor, two for recorder and ten for council. The town's general election will be held Tuesday, June 6, when a mayor, recorder and five council members will be selected. All will serve two-year terms.

Town officials have issued a reminder that voting regulations require that persons nominated for office must be present at the primary election.

Mayor Charles H. Fryer and four members of the present council have announced for re-election. Mayor Fryer is completing his third term in office. Alston (Ted) Dayton also is completing six years on the council, Thomas P. Cowan is winding up his second term as councilman, and Keith W. Skidmore and Arthur Maiers each are completing their first term.

Archie Lough has announced he will not seek re-election as town recorder, explaining that a new position he holds does not permit him the time required to attend council meetings and transact town business.

The other member of the Ridgeley Council, Mrs. Betty J. Tabler, resigned her position in January.

Over 700 Sixth Graders Visit High Schools

Allegany and Fort Hill High schools held orientation programs yesterday for students who will enter the schools at the start of the next school term.

Allegany High's program, presented under the chairmanship of John R. Snyder, director of guidance, was opened in the school auditorium with selections by the Junior High Orchestra, under direction of S. Lua Sykes.

Welcoming remarks were presented by Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal, after which twirling was demonstrated by the Junior High majorettes. A play, "The Kid From Mars," was presented by SID, AHS Junior High dramatics club, followed by selections by the Seventh Grade Treble Clef Club.

Wray Blair was faculty director of the play, and Miss Carol Reith directed the Treble Clef selections.

There were 340 visiting students at Allegany, Snyder said. Sixty-five of the group are students at Cresaptown Junior High School who are scheduled to enter the tenth grade this fall, while 275 will enter the seventh grade from various schools.

A tour of the school plant followed the auditorium program, with guides being members of the Future Teachers Club and selected seventh graders. Refreshments were served in the AHS cafeteria.

Ralph P. Weimer, director of guidance, was in charge of the Fort Hill High program, that also opened in the school auditorium with selections by the Junior High Band, under direction of Robert O. Nutter.

Opening remarks were presented by Susan Crawford, president of the Junior High Student Council. A violin ensemble, under direction of Miss Christie Mac Donald, presented several selections, as did the Seventh and Eighth Grade Girls Glee Club, directed by Miss Annetta Yates.

Other musical portions of the program included the Junior High Boys Glee Club, directed by Harold Hanson. Junior High girls presented tumbling performances, under direction of Mrs. Joann Eckard. Brief remarks were made by Victor D. Heisey, principal, and David LaFon, vice principal.

The visitors, including 407 students and 24 teachers, were taken on a tour of Fort Hill, with students serving as guides. Weimer said 183 of the group represented students at Pennsylvania Avenue School, who will enter the ninth grade this fall, with the remaining 224 representing those who will begin as seventh grade students at Fort Hill.

Over 5 Inches Rain Here In April

An indication of just how inclement the weather was during April can be gleaned from the report of the local office of the U. S. Geological Survey at the Cumberland Post Office.

Total rainfall in Cumberland was 5.50 inches, which is 2.62 inches above the April average. The average daily temperature was 47.5 degrees, which is 4.6 degrees below normal.

The average daily flow of the Potomac River here was 3,870 cubic feet per second (2,501 million gallons per day). This is 167 per cent of the 31-year April average. The daily flow varied between 1,400 cubic feet (905 million gallons) on April 9 and 11,300 cubic feet (7,303 million gallons) on April 16.

A. A. Vickers, engineer in charge of the local geological office, said the equivalent of 196 cubic feet (127 million gallons) was retained in storage at Savage River Dam, which is 5.1 per cent of the flow of the river here.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My boy friend gave me a wrist watch for my birthday. First I'd like to tell you that we are not teen-agers. I am 26 and he is 30. He has a fine job, makes excellent money, and buys the best of everything — for himself, that is.

The watch he gave me stopped running the second day I had it. I didn't want to hurt his feelings so I had it repaired and said nothing. Four days later the crystal fell out and it stopped again, so I had it fixed once more.

Last week the stem and the strap both broke. I took it to the jeweler again and he said it wasn't worth fixing. He claims the watch was second-hand when I got it and couldn't have cost more than $15 new. Shall I say something?—8:20 (THAT'S WHEN THE WATCH ALWAYS STOPS.)

DEAR 8:20: He didn't give you much of a watch, Honey, but you sure did get the works.

Say nothing. Put the watch away and when your boy friend asks where it is, tell him you had it repaired three times and the jeweler advised you not to invest any more money in it.

DEAR ANN: My problem ranks somewhere beneath the U.N. crisis in importance but I need some outside thinking.

Recently a close relative phoned to tell me of the death of a distant relative whom I had not seen in 20 years.

She said "Of course you'll want to send flowers so why don't we pool our money and send a nice wreath together?" Frankly I had no intention of sending flowers but I didn't want to appear cheap so I said yes. That same day I sent her my check for $7.50. It was agreed that she would handle it through her florist.

I learned the day after the funeral that the wreath was sent in her name only. Shall I let her know I'm aware of this, or should I say nothing? — BURNED

DEAR BURNED: Ask her to check with her florist and learn why THEY omitted your name from the card.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I certainly did appreciate your telling off that woman who called an acquaintance "Mrs. Whatchamacallit" because her name was difficult to pronounce. I have a similar problem.

Our family name, because of the spelling causes some people to mispronounce it. It comes out sounding like a vulgar expression. When people who don't know any better make this mistake should I correct them? Or do you think that this would be a breach of etiquette? — MRS. IN DOUBT

DEAR MRS.: It is perfectly proper to correct a person who mispronounces your name. If you do it gently and not imply that he did it intentionally there should be no hurt feelings.

CONFIDENTIAL To Getting Grey: Tell him either — or — and make it stick. If you two wait until everything is perfect, you'll be too old to walk down the aisle. Someone will have to push the wheel-chairs.

CONFIDENTIAL To Torn To Pieces: Your child HAS a name. If this is the only reason you can think of to go back to a man you describe as "selfish, abusive and lazy" I don't think much of the move.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Little girls may wear velvet hunt caps while their mothers put on pork-pies.

Ride Right In Style

The First Lady's love of horsemanship predicts that a lot of pretty pedestrians will be taking off at full gallop this season to town and country riding academies. What will they wear?

Any woman who's part of the heart of the hunt set KNOWS what she will be wearing. The rules for a formal riding wardrobe are traditional and, drawn from the age-old need for hard-wearing clothes, they are as rigid as the rules for riding itself.

The average independent equestrienne has a little leeway in looks but she's smart to observe professional pointers for her own protection. Riding is rough on clothes. And rough on riders, if the clothes worn aren't built to stand hard abuse. A well-made habit is worth a reasonable investment.

For a completely casual exercise costume, there are blue jean jodhpurs with knee reinforcement that are to be tucked into jodhpur boots. A lot more fun and fashion is found, however, in a suitably traditional habit, especially for the woman who rides well and expects to ride a great deal.

The clasic version of the informal habit is the "hacking" suit, worn when riding for enjoyment—rather than show. The hacking jacket, slightly fitted to mid-hip and with slanting pockets, comes in herringbone or checked tweed for pairing with regular fitted jodhpur breeches and a soft-crowned felt hat. A sweater or a ratcatcher shirt completes the outfit. The ratcatcher (and that's really its name) is identified by a collar and tie the same fabric as the shirt.

This is the basic combination for riding in style. Several well-known designers have contrived their own interpretations of this classic scheme, relaxed variations for eye-catching appeal and comfort.

In fact, the hacking jacket itself, as an informal sports coat, has invaded the realm of walking apparel for both men and women. It's that attractive.

Formal habits form a horse of another color. And it's not the red that we dub "hunter's pink" either, unless the wearer is master of the hounds. The hunt habit for hard riding is a real working uniform, almost demands the Melton cloth it's usually made of. The typical Kentucky habit includes a longer jacket (sometimes with hunt or club colors) over matching jodhpurs, a shirt with four-in-hand tie, and a harder hat. The evening habit, so outsatnding at horse shows, is singular for its satin-faced, black formal jacket, its white stock, or whit shirt and black bow tie, and its black derby or top hat.

Most of my readers are not likely to ride at such fancy gaits yet the plain practicality of a separate riding wardrobe in a good durable design should appeal to their common sense as well as to their sense of style.

Three County Men Elected By Red Men

Three Allegany County men were elected to state office at the convention of the Improved Order of Red Men, Great Council of Maryland, at Annapolis over the past weekend.

William H. Buchholtz, city, of Tonkaway Tribe, was named to the Board of Appeals; Earl William Conn, Westernport, Black Hawk Tribe, was named great junior Sagamore; and Robert Rosier, also of Westernport, was named district deputy great Sachem.

The larkspur was given its name because of the spurlike formation of the calyx and petals.

Paring Some Of Pentagon's Pork

Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Defense, is a brave man. He has to be to say publicly as he did in front of 1,200 newspaper editors the other day, that there isn't room for any old-fashioned pork-barrel maneuvers in U.S. defense planning—either from members of Congress or from industry and labor.

His reasoning is sound. The country must maintain flexibility in its defense systems. New systems must be constantly developed and old, obsolete ones abandoned. Defense contracts will move from one type of industry to another as the systems become more sophisticated and from one part of the country to another.

He did make one concession. The Defense Department will do what it can to reduce the economic impact on communities that lose industry because of such changes in the defense structure.

It will be fine if Mr. McNamara can make his words stick. The nation needs a defense establishment that is not too firmly committed to given systems, that can move quickly and decisively to meet changed situations in this fast-changing world.

Resistance is sure to develop, however. Congressmen generally are addicted to the pork barrel, and will resist efforts to have it removed. Mr. McNamara already has the Pentagon whirling with all the studies he has ordered, and there is little doubt that conditions there approach a full-blown flap. Not all the changes he has ordered are popular among the various admirals and generals.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Fixed Responsibility

The Constitution makes the President the chief executive and administrative official of the United States. In that respect he acts as a Prime Minister, presiding over a Cabinet of non-political persons; that is, no member of the Cabinet is an elected official. All are literally secretaries to the President with fixed but limited authority. Each member of the Cabinet serves at the pleasure of the President. No member has political responsibility in his own name.

Not all agencies of government are directly or indirectly related to the Cabinet or to any particular Cabinet officer. Many agencies of government are independent and function under special laws passed by Congress. Some of these agencies are supervised by committees of Congress. The President is responsible for all of them but some officials are appointed for a period of years and may overlap Presidential terms; they may even be antagonistic to the incumbent in office. Many of the personnel of government may not be dismissed except for cause after a hearing; a cumbersome process which is responsible for the infiltration of government departments by Communists, homosexuals, blabber-mouths and feather-bedders who keep the decent folks in constant disorder.

Therefore, whereas the President is politically responsible for the whole of his Administration, he does not have control of all of it. A large part of the government personnel is under some form of civil service, which provides prescribed tenure. Some, like the secondary personnel of the State Department, can and do form policy concerning which the President may have no knowledge. In fact, in the large and loose organization of government departments, expanded during the New Deal to make work and further expanded during war out of necessity, even the head of a department cannot watch all the secondary personnel in their daily tasks and ought not to be required to.

Thus, we suffer a Cuban fiasco, for which two officials, Roy Rubottom Jr. and William A. Wieland, should, on the chart, be held responsible during their term. However, as the system works, instead of being dismissed, Rubottom was appointed Ambassador to the Argentine and Wieland sits about pending a Senatorial investigation. If, as many claim, the errors were made by the CIA and the State Department, or by a President's predecessor, the President is nevertheless personally and politically responsible. His responsibility being political, he is limited in his conduct by the fact that there is a Congressional election every second year and a Presidential election every fourth year.

The President is also head of state, a ceremonial personality, responsible for protocol appearances, such as dropping everything to chase down to an airport to welcome a visitor from abroad, provided the visitor is of sufficient rank. He must also entertain on many formal occasions, with or without his wife as protocol dictates. As head of state, his personal conduct is a matter of news, as is the conduct of his wife and children. The President of the United States has no private life because he is always in the presence of the Secret Service and of newspaper reporters and photographers.

The principal task of a President is to keep himself informed about the multitudinous affairs of his Administration. This is an actual impossibility. No matter how much energy a President has, he cannot see all the heads of agencies or read all the reports that come over his desk. To do so, he would have to stretch each day into a week. A President therefore has his own staff upon which he becomes increasingly dependent; he must also accept the data provided by various agencies of government, particularly by his Cabinet officers, as truthful and correct. A well-informed, well-read, previously conditioned President might catch flaws in some matters, but no man can have an encyclopedic mind which covers in detail the affairs of the universe.

To a degree, then, the President becomes a slave of his environment and his assistants. President Eisenhower attempted to organize a kind of General Staff headed by a Mayor of the Palace, Sherman Adams. It did not work. President Roosevelt tried to manage everything himself which also did not work.

The conclusion must be reached that the Presidency is too responsible, too difficult, too inoperative a position. No other country has any comparable office. Great Britain has a Queen and a Prime Minister; France a President and a Premier; Soviet Russia a President and a Prime Minister. No country attempts to load down all the primary functions of government on one person.

The most difficult task the President faces always is swift communications. Too much time is wasted in going through channels; yet, if everything came directly to the President, he would be overwhelmed. Also, the Congress functions very slowly because of the separation of powers. Decisions which need to be immediate are prolonged beyond reason but according to tradition. The Cuban fiasco ought to awaken the nation to this peril.

No Quick Or Easy Solution To Current Crises

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The American people might as well prepare for a long-drawn-out struggle in the Caribbean as well as in Southeast Asia. There is no quick or easy solution.

Wounded pride has caused many an American to call for military action in Cuba — a take-over of the country. Likewise, the desire to save Southeast Asia from the Communists has prompted a demand in Congress and elsewhere that American military forces be used to help defend the Laotian government and the South Vietnam government against Communist forces.

The prospect of putting the people of this country on a war footing because of troubles anywhere in the world doesn't create much enthusiasm in the United States, where the satisfactions of a normal life are being enjoyed by most people despite the temporary recession on the economic front. Anybody with only a cursory knowledge of the currents of national politics knows that President Kennedy, a shrewd politician himself, doesn't relish the idea of becoming another Democratic war President. He will stay out of any war until absolutely forced into it.

What then of alternative measures? It's the same old technique —negotiate and delay. Sometimes it works. Sometimes it staves off a war. Then again it precipitates one in larger proportions than at first envisaged. For the potential enemy could misconstrue the desire for delay as a sign of weakness. The Korean "police action" turned into a war of three years' duration. It not only upset the American economy, but it cost more than 157,500 American casualties, with nearly 6,000,000 Americans called into military service to fight on a battlefront 5,000 miles across the Pacific.

Today the American people recognize that conditions in other continents can precipitate a world war. But they are reluctant to take any step that might bring on the big war. Once more it could be a case of America having her hand forced by an unscrupulous dictator.

What preoccupies Washington at the moment is whether there is some other plan that will stay the hand of the contriving Communists and yet will not call for military action by the meager ground forces of the United States. For the truth is that, with all the hullaballoo about missiles and rockets and jet bombers, the United States has gradually diminished its ground forces. There are only six American divisions today in the standing army in continental United States, while the other eight are scattered around the world—five in Europe, two in Korea, and one in Hawaii. The Marine Corps has two divisions in the United States and one abroad. These facts have been repeatedly published, so the Russians know how limited is our military manpower.

There is, of course, as a supplement, the power to draft and to call up the reserves. This is where politics comes in. It wouldn't cause too much of a commotion if only a few divisions were used and trouble didn't break out anywhere else. But it would be surprising if the Communists didn't use the opportunity to stir up bigger crises in Southeast Asia, especially in South Vietnam, which used to be a part of Indo-China before that country was separated in two parts by the Geneva Conference in 1954. The Communists have not since respected the neutrality agreements made at that time.

While military action both in Cuba and in Southeast Asia cannot be ruled out — the Communists may force our hand — it seems a safe assumption that the United States will try again to mobilize the moral force of the world, either through the United Nations or through the collective action of our own allies.

For certainly the United States should not be expected alone to solve the world's problems. Canada, for instance, can hardy play footsy with Red China on a trade basis and escape criticism in the United States. Nor can France ignore the United Nations, even though her own Algerian troubles are acute. Britain can furnish manpower, too, and so can Australia and New Zealand.

The answer indicated, as the first step, therefore, is an appeal to the United Nations. If the Communist invasion of South Vietnam and Laos is not stopped and if Castro continues to get military assistance from the Soviet Union, these situations would constitute, under the U.N. charter, a threat to the peace of the world. If the U.N. doesn't act, then it becomes a duty of member nations to organize, under Articles 51 and 52, a program of collective defense.

Cuba has violated international law repeatedly. Castro's government has confiscated that private property of foreigners and has made no real compensation for what was seized. The dictator has offered worthless bonds. It becomes the duty of the collective alliance to secure respect for international law and past commitments.

So the whole situation, it would appear now, will go before the United Nations for decision. Unless some untoward act forces a military operation in the meantime that might require the United States to go it alone anyhow, some kind of group action may be expected in which various members of the Organization of American States also would be asked to join. It looks like a lot of negotiation through diplomatic conversations before there is any important military action.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

GLOOMY CAPITAL — The atmosphere in Washington is gloomier than at any time since the U-2 incident and the blow-up of the "summit" conference in Paris a year ago. It stems from the extensive loss of U.S. prestige in the Cuban invasion debacle, and no one in official Washington is trying to minimize or alibi the situation.

Leading the frank appraisal of the setback to the U. S. is President Kennedy, himself. And his aides, following his lead, are talking in a straightforward manner.

The gist of the White House attitude is that the administration was misled about Cuba, that the U. S. has suffered a serious reverse in its prestige, that Castro has been made stronger in Cuba, and that the U. S. image has suffered around the world.

What to do about it? President Kennedy has made it clear that the first task in the present crisis is for all to pull together to repair the damage. But this does not mean that the mistakes will be forgotten. Somewhere along the line, Kennedy has made it known, there will be a review of just where the U. S. went wrong in the Cuban operation, and what remedial steps must be taken.

President Kennedy already has ordered a government-wide study of U. S. abilities in some of the "parliamentary" operations, under the directorship of former Army Chief of Staff Gen. Maxwell Taylor.

However, before the Cuban situation is considered closed, there will also be a specific examination of what went on in the Central Intelligence Agency that brought about the so-wrong assessment of the chances for an uprising of the Cuban people against Castro. And when this assessment comes, it will be hard and tough, pull no punches, whitewash no men or agencies.

Kennedy is determined to minimize the losses to his administration, and to arrange, if it is in his power, to make sure that it doesn't happen again.

Work, Study And Enjoy Leisure For Fuller Life

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

So many Americans are concerned with dying, they forget to live. These people are afraid to enjoy themselves because it might shorten their life by 6 minutes or 10 years. They want more than 3 score and 10 and will hibernate, vegetate, or deny themselves almost everything to eke out another 10 to 20 years.

Some turn down a delicious steak or eggs sunny side up because it might increase their blood cholesterol and hasten hardening of the arteries. Others never eat a meal without thinking of calories, drink a cocktail because it might make them an alcoholic, or smoke because of the danger of lung cancer.

There is a time and place for most of our pleasures. They are not harmful when used in moderation and do not interfere with our purposes and goals in life. The chances are good that the less you worry about dying, the longer you'll live.

Work, study, and enjoy your leisure as though you were to go on forever. Be prepared for the end by accepting the fact that all must die when the time comes.

I'm not suggesting that we forget our physical condition. I'm campaigning against being so preoccupied with health that it becomes a curse, rather than a blessing. The extra years gained through watching every tidbit that enters the mouth or counting every hour of sleep may not be worth the living you missed.

A long walk or a bicycle ride may be better for the man of 60 than reading a book, painting, or playing with a stamp collection. But if he prefers reading or his life is enriched by painting, he should continue these sedentary occupations even though he might live six months less than if he exercised regularly.

TOMORROW: Our kidneys act as filters.

FATIGUED OLDSTER

Mrs. N. writes: I'm 72 and two hours after I get up and do the household chores, I'm so sleepy I have to go back to bed. Do you think it is my heart or blood that does this?

REPLY

Anemia, low metabolism, and hidden infections contribute toward fatigue. Get a checkup and if nothing is found, take advantage of the feeling of relaxation and enjoy a good nap.

UNPIGMENTED SPOTS

S. R. O. writes: After an operation to remove the pelvic organs I developed leucoderma. Do you think taking sex hormones will bring color back to these white spots?

REPLY

No, even though the cause of these white spots on the skin is not known. I say this because 99.9 per cent of all victims of leucoderma did not undergo the operation mentioned prior to developing the condition.

HAIR REMOVAL IN CHILD

L. F. writes: How soon is it safe to have electrolysis done on a 7 year old girl's mustache?

REPLY

Forget it for the time being. When she begins to complain, use a bleach, tweezers, or a razor. Consult your physician if there is a question about a co-existing glandular disorder.

URINARY TRACT INFECTION

J. G. writes: What causes pus in the urine?

REPLY

Infection somewhere along the urinary tract, from the kidneys down to the outside exit.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The Screen Writers Guild puts on an annual show that is one of the highlights of the Hollywood season. This year's effort featured a "cannibal" blackout that went something like this:

PRODUCER: Seymour, this is the best script you've ever done.

WRITER: Thanks, J. B. It wasn't easy, you know.

PRODUCER: I realize that, sweetie baby. You had to be careful not to offend the most delicate sensibilities. But you've come up with a sincere, heart-warming script on cannibalism. I love it.

WRITER: You're very kind, J. B.

PRODUCER: There's just one little thing, Seymour sweetheart: Weren't there TWO writers assigned to this script?

She relaxed into his protecting arms and cooed, "After we're married, darling, I am going to cook and darn all your socks."

"That will not be necessary," observed her Harvard fiance. "Just darn 'em."

Hate-Mongers Come Out Of Long Hibernation, Back Birch Society

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — While Adolf Eichmann stands trial in Israel for the murder of 6,000,000 Jews, some of the satanic influences which built up the Nazi system and led to the murder are creeping out from long-time hibernation in the United States.

One of them is George Deatherage, the West Virginia house-painter who wanted to imitate another house-painter in Austria, and who, before Pearl Harbor, organized the fascist, race-baiting Knights of the White Camellia.

Deatherage was indicted in January 1943 on a charge of helping to organize a nationwide conspiracy to undermine the loyalty of American troops, but the death of Judge Edward Eicher disrupted his trial before there was a verdict.

However, Deatherage is now back on the job of hate-peddling, this time operating from Satsuma, Fla., with an "America First" letterhead.

The significant aspect of Deatherage's hate-peddling is that it seems to run in the same old groove he employed before Pearl Harbor, and that he is now teaming up with other groups whose goal is to undermine a republican form of government in the United States.

Back in June 1939, Deatherage was active in trying to organize a fascist plot to take over the United States, under the leadership of retired Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley of Atlanta. Congressman Martin Dies, then chairman of the House Committee on un-American Activities, believed in exposing fascist as well as Communist intrigue against the United States—unlike the same committee of today. And he uncovered a Deatherage letter to James E. Campbell of Owensboro, Ky., which told of his plot with Gen. Moseley which smacks of the recent French generals' revolt against de Gaulle.

Champion Of John Birch

Deatherage hadn't been heard from since his trial in 1943, until Congressman Henry Reuss, the hard-hitting Wisconsin Democrat, made a speech in the House of Representatives showing how Robert Welch, head of the John Birch Society, preached the same doctrine as Hitler, both as to hate and as to a cover attempt to undermine a republican form of government.

Immediately, the ex-commander of the Knights of the White Camellia popped up out of the wood.

"We have noted your activities in attacking the ultra-conservative and anti-Communist John Birch Society," Deatherage warned. "Inasmuch as it appears that you are anti-anti-Communist, the natural conclusion is that you are pro-Communist and a Soviet sympathizer.

"Part of our activities are those of keeping files on such people in case of an attack on this country by the Soviet; a list of potentially dangerous people who may collaborate with the enemy. With the above in mind we would appreciate a statement of your position if you care to make it. Otherwise the classification will be made on the basis of the data we have."

John Birch Correction

The John Birch Society has taken exception to a statement in a recent column that they charge Dwight Eisenhower with being a "devoted and convinced Communist." . . . "and that John Foster Dulles was a 'Communist agent'."

They claim that the John Birch Society has never made this statement. Technically this may be correct.

The statement was made, however, by Robert Welch, founder of the society; and one of the principles of the society as laid down by Welch of page 116 of his "blue book" is that members "accept direction from their leader."

The philosophy of that leader, as stated on page 267 of his code of principles "The Politician" reads as follows:

"My firm belief that Dwight Eisenhower is a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy is based on an accumulation of detailed evidence so extensive and so palpable that it seems to me to put this conviction beyond any reasonable doubt."

Welch further states on page 212 of "The Politician": "For many reasons and after a lot of study, I personally believe Dulles to be a Communist agent."

In my opinion, anyone who makes such a fantastic and unfair statement forfeits all right to respect or belief.

Goldwater In Reverse

Colleagues of Arizona's invincible reactionary, Sen. Barry Goldwater, couldn't believe their ears when he suggested at a closed-door Senate-House conference that employes of auto dealers be included in the minimum wage bill. Liberal Congressmen had proposed the same thing when the bill was before the House, but there were howls of opposition from Goldwater's friends among the auto dealers.

In fact, a Goldwater political pal, ex-Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield, the big Chevrolet dealer, had set up a lobby command post in the Congressional Hotel on Captitol Hill in order to defeat this very proposal.

So when Goldwater brought it up again at the Senate-House closed-door conference, suspecious colleagues voted against him and for the auto dealears.

"Has the Senator suddenly gone liberal on us or is this one of his strategies?" questioned John Dent, Pennsylvania Democrat. "I wonder. We were unable to include the auto dealers in the House bill, unfortunately, because if we did so the entire bill would have been defeated. We face the same prospect again if we approve the Senator's proposal. Is that the Senator's aim—to doom the whole bill?"

"There's one thing about you, Barry," broke in Adam Clayton Powell, the Congressman from Harlem and leader of the House conferees. "You don't let any grass grow under your feet. Now you can campaign on both sides of the minimum wage issue, the liberal side and the conservative side."

Goldwater grinned a little sheepishly. Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregone continued to rib him.

"Barry, you're not getting anywhere here," said Morse. "If might be a good idea if you took the minimum wage bill home to your wife and let her write it."

"If I did, you can bet it would be more liberal than any bill I would endorse," confessed the gentleman from Arizona.

Taxes And Writers

By John Crosby

Gustave Simons, a tax attorney and economist, writes in "The Saturday Review": "In an era when the struggle for men's minds, more than ever before, involves cultural elements, our lawmakers seem to have forgotten that 'Uncle Tom's Cabin,' 'Das Kapital,' and 'Mein Kampf' have served as powerful weapons. At a time when the plight of Boris Pasternak gives up a supreme opportunity in the international contest of literary skills, our Washington leaders lightly cast aside these advantages by subjecting authors to the heaviest tax burden of any segment of our economy."

This is not only cultural lunacy from the standpoint of the nation, but it approaches economic lunacy, too. There are rich American authors. But either they got rich before the tax boom was lowered during the Second World War or they live abroad where they can be totally exempt from taxes. If you write a book that sells well in the United States, you pay taxes, wherever you live.

But if you write a motion picture and you establish residence aboard for over eighteen months, you don't pay a quarter in tax. There is a movement afoot to close this tax loophole but this proposed measure—like practically every measure by the Treasury Department — is a shortsighted, half measure designed to cope with one small condition rather than the whole situation. Our present tax laws are designed to drive writers abroad to write bad movies rather than to write good plays or books here in the United States.

Besides impoverishing the country culturally, this kind of tax nonsense helps impoverish it economically, too. In the last fifteen years, the motion picture industry, once one of the biggest industries in the country, has fled Hollywood for bases overseas where not only its writers but also its directors and actors can get tax immunity. Hollywood has been largely divested of a hugely profitable industry and it is going to be great fun trying to win it back. Life is too comfortable abroad.

What about the writers? Taylor Caldwell, a very successful popular novelist, who doesn't want to live abroad, has had to pay heavily for the privilege of staying in this country. She writes: "I work from twelve to eighteen hours a day, writing, and so does my husband who is my collaborator, and I can tell you we are spiritually and physically exhausted.

"Our last books were great best-sellers, 'Dear and Glorious Physician' and 'The Listener.' Now we find the mortgage payments on our house (we had to take out the mortgage to pay our taxes after another best-seller) and the interest on the mortgage, and school and real estate taxes, not to mention Fed and state, are entirely too much for us financially.

"We went to Palm Beach to find a little house we could afford. The cheapest house we could find was $75,000. We wanted to live there for we have many friends in the community but where would we get $75,000? I have cardiovascular disease, and the cold weather almost kills me every winter, and my husband is seventy-two and in poor health. We found that Florida helps us considerably, and especially my cardiac asthma, which I have had all my life. After all I am sixty. We don't want to be forced to leave America, our dear country, as so many writers have been forced to do in desperation."

Miss Caldwell is not the only writer mistreated by the tax laws. Most of them are. So are most physicians, actors, artists, and other creative people. Not all creative people. The shadier ones who tell the biggest lies or have the slipperiest lawyers manage to wrest some of their income out of the hands of the Treasury Department.

As a general rule, our tax laws penalize honesty, hard work, thrift, and decency. The Treasury Department, both its laws and its rulings, reward deviousness, speculation in anything (real estate, stocks, oil), unscrupulousness, lies, and laziness. All the things you are generally taught in school not to do are richly rewarded by our tax laws and all the honest virtues are penalized. The big wheelers and dealers from Texas are hardly taxed at all; the workers and artists and the middle class — the backbone of this country — are treated unmercifully. As a general rule, the shadier the deal the less it is taxed.

One reason is that our tax laws are written by all the wrong people. Tax lawyers shouldn't write the laws. Says Gustave Simon: "The government and the people are at war." He feels the tax law should not be exclusively in the hands of the Treasury Department but have the collaboration of the Commerce Department which has a more effective, long term point of view. There should be a people's lobby aimed largely at defeating all the other tax lobbies in Washington which are gradually turning the whole country into a nation of people preoccupied with tax avoidance rather than with constructive economies.

Snow Removal Costs County Over $39,000

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has been given the quarterly report of the County Roads Department by Harry T. Skelly, roads supervisor.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Never as long as I've known Cary Grant has he ever been his own press agent until he telephoned to tell me about the next story he is going to do, and how good he thinks it is.

"I bought 'A Touch of Mink' by Stanley Shapiro," Cary told me. "You know who he is — he wrote 'Operation Petticoat' and both stories are high comedies."

Then Cary went on to say, "I'm going to start filming in July, just as soon as I can get a leading lady and a director."

"Now don't tell me you're going to Europe to film this one," I said.

"No, I'm not," he said. "It's going to be made at Universal-International, with the exception of a few exteriors in Bermuda and we'll send a crew to get a few shots in Paris, but we won't take the company there. I may even start it sooner than July, depending how soon I can get the cast assembled."

Weeks before "To Kill a Mockingbird" was given the Pulitzer Prize for fiction, my daughter Harriet tried to buy it. She was very excited about it and told me how charming the story is. But she was too late. Young Alan Pakula had already bought the movie rights and Gregory Peck was set to star in it.

For 39 weeks "To Kill a Mockingbird" has been a steady fixture on the best seller lists and brought much fame to its authoress Harper Lee.

So far along were Greg and Pakula with their plans to screen the story, even before the Pulitzer award, that Robert Mulligan has been signed to direct and Universal-International will release it.

Rocky Cooper tells me that Gary received a beautiful letter from Richard Nixon in which the former vice president said he understood that Gary couldn't receive visitors so he was writing the letter.

"I marvel," Rocky told me, "at the hundreds and hundreds of wires, cables and letters not only from friends, but from people we do not even know, inquiring about Gary."

"I don't know why all these people who don't know me are making all this fuss about me," Gary told Rocky.

His male nurse answered, "Why they are members of your family. A popular star like you belongs to them."

Rocky said Gary sleeps a great deal and he is not seeing any visitors now. She continues to win the admiration of everyone by her courage and calmness.

Sandra Dee and Bobby Darin leave for Honolulu Friday but they will be there only a week. Sandra is eager to go back to work, especially since the cards on the sneak of "Tammy Tell Me True" were so good. Ross Hunter tells me she slipped into the preview all by herself and she was so happy over the cards and at seeing the U-I gang.

She told Ross she is ready and eager to go to work and she will do "The Wrong Rain" before she makes "The Chalk Garden." Incidentally Ross went to Phoenix to see Margaret Truman in "Goodbye My Fancy" and he wants her for one of the top roles in "The Wrong Rain."

A welcome voice was that of Billy Gilbert to say, "I'm not dead, Louella, it's another Billy Gilbert that the trade papers printed had passed away. I'm in the pink," said the voice on the telephone, "I'm 66 years old and still acting. I'm going to do 'Fanny' in San Diego." Billy did it on Broadway.

I asked him if he knew the other Billy Gilbert and he said, "No I hadn't even heard of him." Billy is married to Ella McKenzie, who was one of "Our Gang Comedy" girls. His niece is Fay McKenzie, who was at one time married to Steve Cochran. But he has no children of his own. I'm glad Billy is still alive—I've always liked him.

Director William Wyler has the magic touch in getting just the actor or actress he wants for his pictures — even one who has been happily living in semi-retirement as has Fay Bainter. Yes, Willy put in a call to Fay's house in Palm Springs and sold her on donning the greasepaint again for his "The Infamous," formerly "The Children's Hour" with Audrey Hepburn, Shirley MacLaine and James Garner for the Brothers Mirisch.

Did you remember that Fay way back in 1938 won a "best supporting" Oscar? It was for "Jezebel" with Bette Davis. Even before that, Fay was one of the brightest lights ever to illuminate Broadway and it's good to have her back on the screen.

Flue Fire Quenched

South End Fire Company was called to 8 East Oldtown Road yesterday at 12:15 p. m. to extinguish a flue fire.

New Tax Funds To Be Divided

Some 29 per cent of the $554,681 which Allegany County is expected to get under the new state tax program in the year starting July 1 is earmarked for current school expenses, according to information provided county officials from the Fiscal Research Bureau.

County Commissioner John T. Mason has received a list of figures from the Fiscal Research Bureau which shows a four-way split of the county's additional funds.

SB 102, which provided for the three-cent a pack cigarette tax increase, is expected to provide $283,369 for the county treasury or more than 51 per cent of the total.

SB 101, designed to provide aid to education, is expected to provide $164,231 for current school expenses in this county and another $42,088 for the incentive fund.

SB 13 is expected to provide Allegany County an additional $64,993 for welfare payments. This bill stipulates that no county in Maryland is supposed to provide more than 10 cents of its tax rate for welfare purposes. It is figured that Allegany County now provides about 12 cents, so will get a larger chunk of the state funds in compensation.

Lead Hi-Y Program

Carolyn Hamner and John H. Balch of the Allegany Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y, respectively, were key speakers in the Central Atlantic Area Hi-Y-Tri-Hi-Y Council meeting over the weekend in Wilmington, Del. Miss Hamner acted as chaplain for the installation of officers for 1961-62 and Mr. Balch was a participant at the Saturday banquet and Sunday devotional meeting.

Carl Cecil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cecil, Winchester Road, recently received the Parvuli Dei Award, the highest honor presented to a Catholic Cub Scout.

The Cecil youth received the award at a ceremony at St. Ambrose Catholic Church last Sunday at the 11 a. m. mass.

Rev. Carol Warner, OFM Cap., was celebrant of the mass, and members of Cub Scout Pack 94 took part in the ceremony.

Cub Scouts from Pack 94 also recently took a trip to Cumberland Municipal Airport in connection with "Air Adventure Month." Leaders for the group included Chauncey Friend, Cubmaster, and Mrs. Chauncey Friend and Mrs. Charles Geiger, den mothers.

On Saturday, all Webelos Scouts from the unit will take part in Webelos Day at Camp Potomac near Oldtown.

'Operation Abolition' To Be Shown Here

Victor Tambolleo Post 1712, Catholic War Veterans, will sponsor a showing of the movie "Operation Abolition" Wednesday, May 17, at 8 p. m. in St. Mary's Church hall.

The controversial film, produced and distributed by the House Committee on un-American Activities, depicts student rioting as the committee held hearings in San Francisco several months ago.

The public is invited to the showing, and there will be no admission charge.

Speedy Trial May Be Asked

Homer C. Growden, 34, Centerville, Pa., who is being held in Allegany County Jail on several charges has been questioned in the state's attorney's office and indicated he may request an immediate trial.

Growden was returned to Allegany County Monday from Bedford, Pa., where he was arrested last Friday by Pennsylvania State Police.

The Centerville man had been sought by authorities since last October 7 when he walked away from the state's attorney's office while he was waiting to be questioned in connection with a false pretense case.

Growden was indicted on several counts by the April term of the grand jury.

Textile Striker Paroled In N.C.

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — A parole was granted Wednesday to the first of eight textile union men convicted last year of conspiring to destroy property of a strike-bound Henderson cotton mill.

Johnson Matthews, chairman of the State Board of Paroles, announced the release of Malcolm Jarrell, 25, sentenced to a term of from two two three years in prison. Jarrell had served a fourth of his term.

Four others convicted in the conspiracy will be eligible for parole consideration next February. They are serving 5-to-7 year terms.

Boyd E. Payton, Carolinas director for the Textile Workers Union of America, and two others will be eligible for parole in May, 1962. They are serving 6 to 10-year terms.

Clockers Plan Car Wash Sunday

The Clockers, who met at their club room at 554 North Centre Street Monday night, decided to hold a car wash this Sunday and every other Sunday during the summer from 10 a. m. until 6 p. m. at Spoerl's Used Car Lot, 845 North Mechanic Street.

William Spoerl, a member of the club, turned 142 miles per hour when he drove a rail dragster at the York, Pa., Drag Strip Saturday. In about two weeks he will try to better a 163 mph mark set recently at the track.

"I have the smartest Mom in town."

I was sick and she called the doctor. He said I needed some medicine and she told him we get all our medicine from Walsh-McCagh. Well sir, in minutes I had my prescription and Mom didn't leave me for a minute. They brought it right to my front door, and with no extra cost.

Sometime when you're sick, tell your Mom to have the doctor call Walsh-McCagh. She'll be so happy she did, you'll get kissed too.

Airport Work In Garrett Co. To Be Started

Garrett Board Will Open Bids

OAKLAND — Bids for the construction of an airport at Deep Creek Lake will be received by the Garrett County Commissioners Monday at 10 a. m. (EST) in their office in the Garrett County Court House in Oakland.

This will be the first phase of a federal aid project being undertaken by the county commissioners.

The field, located on the White Face Farm off Route 219 about 15 miles north of Oakland and near the lake, will have a 2,500 foot of bituminous concrete landing strip 75 feet wide.

There will be a landing area cleared measuring 320 feet by 2,200 feet plus a 150-foot by 90-foot taxiway, and a 240-foot by 440-foot parking area for cars.

The project calls for the removal of 254 cubic yards of earth, 11 acres of clearing, 343 feet of storm drainage pipe, 43 acres of seeding, and 3,100 square yards of paving.

The county commissioners with the board attorney, Stuart Hamill, spent yesterday morning at the site.

Carl Schell, Kitzmiller, president of the Garrett County Board, pointed out that county and state will each bear one-fourth of the cost of the project with the federal government putting up half.

Total cost of the first stage is $161,000 and Schell said that the Federal Aeronautics Administration has already appropriated its share of the second stage.

The second stage, which will include the extension of the first stage runway by 1,900 feet, will be started as soon as possible, he added.

The county bought 200 acres of the White Face Farm from the Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The hospital had received it from the estate of Charles M. White.

Moorefield Edges Vikings; LaSalle, Beall Nines Win

Rally In 7th Ends Vikings Streak, 3-2

Mathias, Single Scores Winning Run For Jackets

A two-out single by Johnny Mathias in the last of the seventh inning gave the Moorefield High Yellowjackets a 3-2 victory over Petersburg yesterday at Moorefield, snapping the Vikings' five-game winning streak and handing Coach Wayne Barr's charges their first loss in the Potomac Valley Conference.

The loser was righthander Ernie Nelson who had picked up three straight pitching victories. Nelson was leading 2-1 on a two-hitter until the Jackets came to life in the final inning.

The win was the fifth in seven starts for Moorefield in PVC play. Dave Vance was the winning hurler.

Vance opened the winning seventh when he was safe on an error by the Petersburg shortstop. He moved up when Flinn was safe on a fielder's choice.

Roger Crites forced Flinn at second base, moving Vance to third from where he scored on Nelson's wild pitch. After Ralph Keller fanned for the second out, Mathias punched a single over third to plate Crites with the winning run.

Swick had two hits for the Vikings who solved Vance's slants for only five hits. The Moorefield righthander whiffed 13 batters, in picking up his third win.

Mathias collected two of Moorefield's four bingles off Nelson. The lineups:

Moe Suspended By N. Carolina

Cager Failed To Report Bribery

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Doug Moe, star basketball player at the University of North Carolina, was indefinitely suspended from school Wednesday for failing to report bribe offers in the current basketball fix scandal.

Moe, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was suspended by Chancellor William B. Aycock for not reporting that he had accepted $75 last September from a New York gambler now under indictment in the nation's latest basketball point-shaving scandal.

The 200-pound, 6-6 Moe admitted last week he accepted the money but did not agree to become involved in point-shaving.

Aycock said he suspended Moe because the player did not reveal the bribe offer to him in three conversations he had with Moe in the last two months. He said Moe assured him twice that he was not involved in the scandal in any way.

Burgess' Error Aids Cardinals Beat Bucs, 3-1

Nelson Hits Homer; Mizell Is Loser

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals bunched three runs in the 5th inning Wednesday night—two on an error by Pittsburgh catcher Smoky Burgess—and went on to down the Pirates, 3-1.

Bob Gibson pitched seven innings of shutout ball for the Cardinals but Lindy McDaniel was called to the mound in the 8th inning with two outs after Rocky Nelson tagged Gibson for a home run, the fifth hit against him.

Gibson, who developed back trouble in the 7th inning, picked up the win, his first decision of the season.

The Cardinals took their 5th-inning edge on a two-run error and a squeeze bunt.

Ken Boyer singled and took third on Daryl Spencer's single. Charley James rapped a grounder to first baseman Nelson, who fired to the plate, trapping Boyer between third and home. But Boyer and Spencer scored when Burgess threw wildly into left field.

James, who moved up on the error, went to third on a fly to right and crossed the plate on Hal Smith's squeeze bunt.

Free Skiing Now Offered At Sugarloaf

KINGFIELD, Maine (UPI)—there was so much snow at Sugarloaf Mountain Wednesday that the ski resort offered all comers free skiing this weekend.

Up to six inches of new powder fell on the mountain here Tuesday and directors said this year's season might surpass a 1958 record, when skiers used the Sugarloaf slopes through May 11.

Dave Sisler's Relief Work Halts Tigers

Senators' McClain Wins 3d Game, 5-4

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dave Sisler turned in a brilliant relief effort against his former Detroit Tiger teammates Wednesday night to help the Washington Senators register a 5-4 victory.

The loss dropped the Tigers into a first-place tie with the Yankees, who beat the Minnesota Twins earlier in the day.

Sisler, drafted from the Tigers for $75,000 last December, came to the relief of the faltering Joe McClain in the eighth when Detroit had two on and two out. Sisler got pinch - batter Charlie Maxwell on a pop-up.

The Tigers threatened in the ninth when Dick Gernert walked and Ossie Virgil, who ran for him, went to third on a two-out double by Bill Bruton. Sisler got Al Kaline to ground out, ending the game.

Frank Lary suffered his first loss of the year after four consecutive victories. He gave up all of Washington's runs and six hits in the six innings he worked.

The Senators got off to a 1-0 lead in the first on Marty Keough's triple and Gene Woodling's sacrifice fly. Dick Brown tied it in the second on a two-out home run. Detroit took a 3-1 lead in the same inning on Bruton's bases-loaded single which scored two more runs.

The Senators bounced back with two runs in the fifth on Harry Bright's two-run double. Keough singled in the sixth and Woodling walked. Dale Long smashed a long double to left scoring both men.

Detroit's final score came in the seventh. Chico Fernandez was safe on an error and scored on Larry Osborne's pinch double.

Bobcats Edge Altoona, 6-4, On Kuhn's Hit

Frostburg Scores 2d Win Of Season

Frostburg State's Bobcats won their second game of the season yesterday when a clutch double by George Kuhn drove in the winning runs in the eighth inning against Altoona Campus. The score was 6-4.

Frostburg was trailing 4-3 in the eighth at Altoona when an error and a walk put two Bobcats aboard. Kuhn's double plated both tallies to give the visitors a 5-4 lead. The Bobcats added an insurance run in the ninth on a squeeze bunt by Ronnie Mann.

Don Hurvitz went the route for Frostburg, allowing nine hits and striking out nine. Denton and McMinn had two hits apiece and Strittmatter collected three bingles to give the righthander the most trouble.

Leading batsmen for Frostburg were Geoff Whitmore, Kuhn and Don Nave with two hits each. The lineups:

Game Time Moved Up

The Beall and Fort Hill clash in the Allegany County Baseball League on the Sentinels' diamond Tuesday has been moved ahead one-half hour to 3:30 p. m. instead of the usual 4 o'clock starting time, Coach Bobby Cavanaugh of Fort Hill said last night.

Allegany, LaSalle Clash In 3d City Series Tilt

Fort Hill Seeks 5th ACL Win At Bruce; Potomac On Road

LaSalle and Allegany are scheduled to tangle today at Stitcher Field at 4 p. m., in the third game of the triangular series for the city championship.

The Explorers and Campers will be meeting for the first time this season.

Fort Hill holds the lead in the city race with a 2-0 record, having disposed of LaSalle 10-5 and Allegany 1-0.

Allegany and LaSalle are 2-1 in the Eastern Division of the county circuit.

Seek 5th League Win

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Sentinels will be angling for their fifth straight win of the Allegany County League season when they oppose the Bruce High Bulldogs today at 3:30 p. m., in Westernport. Bruce is 1-2 in the Western Division of the league while Fort Hill paces the Eastern Division.

Bruce has failed to score a run against Fort Hill in their last three meetings since beating the Sentinels in the 1959 opener, 4-2. Fort Hill took the final game, 10-0, and swept last year's series, 20-0 and 5-0. They'll be meeting for the 23rd time today. Fort Hill holds a 13-9 edge in victories since the series started in 1950.

Cats At Hagerstown

Potomac State College goes to Hagerstown today to meet Hagerstown Junior College in a Tri-State Junior College Conference game.

Coach John Fox's Catamounts who have won seven and played a tie in their last eight outings and own an 8-4-1 record, hope to avenge an earlier 11-7 defeat at the hands of Coach Irv Easterday's Hub City nine.

Potomac will be playing its sixth game of the season in the conference. The Cats have won three and lost two in that loop.

Ring Around Wins Maryland Derby By Head

LAUREL, Md., May 3 (AP)—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Ring Around, a three-year-old son of Native Dancer, captured the fourth running of the Maryland Derby today at Laurel in a three-horse photo finish.

Treating a final day crowd of 9,354 fans to a thrilling stretch drive, Ring Around, the 6 to 5 favorite won by a head from the Diamondback Stable's Emanuel, who in turn was but a half length in front of W. Taylor Leatherbury's Might Is Right.

Timed for the one mile in 1.38 3/5 over the fast track, Ring Around paid $4.80, $4.00 and $2.60.

Given a well judged hustling ride by the veteran Ismael Valenzuela, Ring Around came around horses at the far turn and then engaged the pacesetting Emanuel, a 35 to 1 shot in the eight horse field, and Might Is Right, in a stirring duel through the stretch.

McGuire May Coach N.Y. Knickerbockers

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank McGuire, basketball coach at the University of North Carolina, would agree to coach the New York Knickerbockers next year if he also is named general manager of the NBA club.

McGuire's wishes are known by Ned Irish, executive vice president of Madison Square Garden, which operates the professional basketball. The Associated Press learned Wednesday.

San Juan Franchise Will Be Moved Back To States

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Tommy Richardson, president of the International Baseball League, said Wednesday the new San Juan club would be moved out of Puerto Rico within a week or two, probably to Montreal or to Charleston, W. Va.

"We regret very much leaving San Juan," said Richardson, "but the economics of the situation make it just too tough for our ball clubs."

Richardson said he had wired Joe Ryan, general manager of the San Juan Marlins, that it was the unanimous opinion of the league's directors that the franchise be moved.

Essegian Sent To Cleveland

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The Kansas City Athletics Wednesday traded outfielder Chuck Essegian to the Cleveland Indians for left-handed pitcher Julius Grant of Salt Lake City in the Pacific Coast League.

Kansas City General Manager Frank Lane said the trade was made to bolster the Athletics' farm system. He said Grant, 23, brother of Indians' pitcher Jim (Mudcat) Grant, would be assigned to Honolulu, Kansas City's farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

Essegian, 29, acquired by the Athletics last month in a trade with the Baltimore Orioles, had appeared in four games with Kansas City and batted .333.

Derby Hopefuls May Shatter Whirlaway Mark

16 Horses Entered In Kentucky Classic

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Sixteen horses may be entered Thursday for the $125,000-added Kentucky Derby, and with a lot of speey colts on hand one trainer predicted Whirlaway's 20-year-old Churchill Downs track record might go by the boards.

Chuck Parke, who trains crozier for Fred W. Hooper, said the winner of Saturday's 3-year-old classic might shatter Whirlaway's derby and track mark set in 1941.

Whirlaway skipped the mile and one quarter in 2 minutes, 1 2-5 seconds.

Crozier whipped Four-and Twenty, one of the two Alberta Ranches' derby horses, in the Derby Trial Stakes Tuesday. The winner stepped the mile on the lightning fast downs' strip in 1:34 3-5. Parke based his record prediction on hopes for a continued fast track—no rain. 3

As derby fans poured into Louisville, interest was fanned by Crozier's speed display. Most Kentucky hardboots thought the performance set up the derby for Mrs. Jack Price's Carry Back.

Carry Back, winner of the Flamingo and Florida Derby, is a come-from-behind runner who bypassed the Derby Trial. Leonard P. Sasso's Globemaster, another speed demon, upset Carry Back in the Wood Memorial April 22 at Jamaica.

Carry Back is quoted as the 8-5 favorite. Four-and-Twenty lost support after he set the trial pace, then wilted in the stretch. He had been the co-favorite at 3-1 with Carry Back.

The entry box closes a t10 a.m. EST Thursday when owners must pay $250 to officially sign in for the 87th derby. I fthey choose to start Saturday at 4:30 p.m., they kick in with an additional $1,250 apiece.

In addition to Crozier, Carry Back, Four-and-Twenty and Globemaster, the field may line up thusly:

Robert Lehman's Ambiopoise, V. E. Smith's Bass Clef, Emil A. Dust's Dearborn, Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Dr. Miller, Alberta Rances' Flutterby, Red Oak Stable's Injun, Braeburn Farm' sJay Fox, Jacnot Stable's Light Talk, Eastwood Stable's Loyal Son, J. Graham Brown's On His Metal, Wilbur Clark and William Radkovich's Ronnie's Ace, and Jacob Sher's Sherluck.

Later in the day, trainer Nick Combest announced that Injun has a bruised shin and probably would miss the derby.

With 15 going to the starting gate to the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home" (CBS-TV from 4:15-4:45 p.m., EST) the jackpot would gross $163,000. The winner's share would be $120,500.

JINX AND JINXED—There are "horses for courses" on the race track and the same is true in baseball where some pitchers hold a jinx over certain clubs and are jinxed by others. Ed Lopat always seemed to be able to beat the Indians and Frank Lary never had too much trouble with the Yanks. As this season gets underway several of these lucky—or unlucky—pitchers hope to either continue the spell or break the whammy. Billy Loes of the Giants, for example, is murder for the Braves. Billy has won 11 and lost 1 against them. Mudcat Grant of the Indians found Washington duck soup and his career mark is 16 wins and only 2 losses. Jim O'Toole of the Reds can't beat the Braves and now is 0-8 with that club. And Don Larsen of the Athletics finds the Indians his nemesis, standing 0-9 against the Tribe. Warren Spahn holds a career mark over all clubs but the Dodgers. With them he's 14-30. (Central Press)

Ring Ratings Are Announced

Liston, Machen Top Heavy Contenders

NEW YORK (AP)—Sonny Liston and Eddie Machen remained the top two contenders for Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title Wednesday in the current ratings announced by Ring magazine.

Speculation has been rampant the past few weeks as to whom Patterson would meet in his next defense, possibly in late summer.

Liston is actively campaigning for a title fight while Henry Cooper, of England, ranked fourth, and Tom McNeeley, ninth-ranked from Arlington, Mass., also have been mentioned along with Machen.

Harold Johnson, who defended his National Boxing Association title last month against Von Clay, was ranked as top contender to Archie Moore for the light heavyweight crown. Moore defends his version of the title soon against Italy's Giulio Rinaldi, ranked third.

Ring named Paul Pender as its middleweight titlist and listed his No. 1 challenger as Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah. Pender recently decisioned Carmen Basilio in a 15-rosnd title fight. Basilio was not listed among the top 10 contenders.

Spahn Hurls Two-Hitter, Wins Over Dodgers, 4-1

Winner of $198,706 last year, she will have Eddie Arcaro in the Saddle.

128 Persons Said Involved In Cage Bribery Scandal

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Philadelphia Daily News said Wednesday it had learned that 128 individuals, some 38 colleges and eight referees were expected to be named in the college basketball scandal involving point-shaving by college players.

The News said the scandal, currently confined to the east and south, and which includes four Philadelphia area players, would involve schools from coast to coast.

It noted investigators are said to have in their possession taped recordings of two local area players talking to a fixer.

Record payoff on the Kentucky Derby came in 1913 when Donerail pair $184.90 for each $2 ticket. The lowest was $2.80 which Citation and Count Fleet paid when they won the event.

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — System bettors who play the No. 4 at the race track had a field day at Laurel's meet-closing program Wednesday.

Horses carrying "4" on their saddlecloths won six consecutive races, from the second through the seventh events.

Arnold Palmer Favorite In Las Vegas Golf

Tourney Of Champs To Begin Today

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer, the golden boy of golf, was installed as a 5-1 favorite Wednesday to win the Tournament of Champions golf classic which gets underway Thursday on the long, flat Desert Inn Country Club course.

The odds shifted to Palmer during the night after he posted a brilliant 7-under-par 65 in practice Tuesday. That left Gary Player, the Masters champion from South America, as the second choice at 6-1. Billy Casper was in third place at 8-1 and Ken Venturi, Sam Snead and Tommy Bolt, all were listed at 10-1.

The forecast indicated that the tourney would be played under favorable conditions. Winds, which usually plague this event, will be a mild 15-25 miles an hour and the temperatures around 90.

The golfers themselves seemed to go along with the odds that favored Palmer and Player.

"Between them they have won 7 of the 16 tournaments played this year," said Bob Rosburg, who is 12-1 in the betting. "They've got it going for them. You have to pick the men who are hot."

First place in this tournament is worth $10,000, and the total money in the player pool is $52,000.

Player, a little 25-year-old power swinger from Johannesburg, hasn't found the course to his liking—in the practice rounds. When he last played here in 1959 he finished 22nd in a 26-man field.

"I took a 10 on the first hole that time when I hit two balls out of bounds," he recalled as he stepped to the first tee for a practice round. "I couldn't swing then because of some boils on my neck."

He is in perfect condition this time—but still knocked his tee shot out-of-bounds on the first hole.

There was little action in the course Wednesday. A celebrity-amateur tourney was played during the middle of the day.

Installed at 12-1 in the wagering champion Jerry Barber, Dow Finsterwald, Jay Hebert, Rosburg, Billy Maxwell and Mike Souchak.

Art Wall, who is in bed with the flu Wednesday, Julius Boros, Gene Littler, Bob Goalby, Bill Collins, Dlug Sanders and Davey Hill are 15-; Doug Ford, Don Fairfiled, Ernie Vossler and Johnny Pott are 20-1 and Lionel Hebert and Billy Johnston are 25-1.

Yanks Bomb Twins, 7-3

Turley Goes Route, Ramos Is Loser

ST. PUAL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) —The New York Yankees bombed the Minnesota Twins with seven runs in two big innings and swept the second of their three-game stand 7-3 Wednesday.

For the second day in a row the Yanks teed off on an ace Twins pitcher, shelling Pedro Ramos in the seventh with a four-run, four-hit outburst. Camilo Pascual lost to the Yankees Tuesday.

New York got to Ramos for three unearned runs in the fourth on a combination of two hits, a walk, and two errors.

Mickey Mantle, leading the American League in home runs —8—and runs batted in—22, extended his hitting streak to 15 straight games with a single in the seventh after flying out twice and getting on via a fielder's choice.

Bob Turley went the route for New York to score his third victory against one loss.

Giants Defeat Chicago, 8-4

Cepeda Hits Homer; O'Dell Is Winner

CHICAGO (AP)—A shaky Chicago defense, leaking three unearned runs, and Orlando Cepeda's two-run homer boosted the San Francisco Giants to an 8-4 victory over the Cubs Wednesday.

Cepeda's bleacher shot in the sixth gave the Giants 15 homers in four consecutive games, one behind the major league record set by the Milwaukee Braves in 1953 and again in 1956. Tuesday, the Giants matched the three-game record of 14 homers.

Chicago's Ernie Banks slammed his Nos. 4 and 5 home runs of the season, but both were solo blasts which didn't help the luckless loser, Jack Curtis, who yielded only five hits before he was sent to cover in a three-run Giant seventh.

The winner was Billy O'Dell, summoned hurriedly when starter Mike McCormick, suffered a gashed lip from a bounder off the bat of the second Cub batter of the game, Don Zimmer.

O'Dell quit for a pinch hitter in the seventh after allowing two runs and eight hits in six innings, and Bob Bolin finished for the Giants.

Burner Resigns At Valley High

MASONTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Tom Burner has resigned after a brilliant four years as football coach at Valley High School here. His successor may be former West Virginia star Ray Peterson.

In Burner's four seasons, Masontown won 34 games against only three defeats and one tie. The 1958 team won all 10 games and the 1960 club had only a tie to mar an otherwise perfect record. He came here from Ridgeley High School in Mineral County.

Laurel Betting 9.2 Per Cent Off

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Laurel Race Course completed its 28-day meeting Wednesday with both attendance and betting off 9.2 per cent as compared with last year.

Schapiro criticized the Maryland Racing Commission for assigning conflicting dates to the two tracks.

Total attendance was 287,720, an average of 10,275 daily. Last spring 328,245 fans attended a 29-day meeting, an average of 11,318.

Stocks Continue Advance On Strong Buying Surge

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks scored their second consecutive gain Wednesday with a strong surge of buying that sent volume figures more than 800,000 shares ahead of Tuesday.

Blue chip issues figured prominently in the advance, the Dow-Jones industrial average rising 6.56 points to 688.90. Rails tacked on another 1.67 to 143.79 and utilities added 0.19 to 112.04.

The upsurge continued Tuesday's strong close and held in a straight line until the final bell when a little profit-taking moved in. Gains of 1 and 2 points were spread throughout the list especially among leading steels, drugs, electronics and oils.

Activity picked up smartly along with prices, amounting to 4,940,000 shares against 4,110,000 the day before. It was the biggest volume in a week.

The market was broad — 1,308 issues — and included 789 gainers and 307 losers. The spread of new highs over new lows widened sharply to 106-11.

A report that Youngstown would boost output next week brought gains all over that section. National defense shares had a mixed look but Boeing and General Dynamics responded well to news that the B52 and B58 production lines would be humming for a while longer.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all of our relatives, Neighbors and friends who were so kind to us following the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Phillip Hartung. We especially wish to thank those who sent cards and flowers and those who donated the use of their cars.

THE HARTUNG FAMILY

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son, Ronald Gene Morris, who died 3 years ago, May 4th, 1958.

Dearest Ronnie, we loved you so,
We'll never know why you had to go.
But God in His wisdom, has chosen you
To shine a star in His sky of blue.
So, with that thought in mind, we're sure
That the year ahead can be endured.
And some day again, we'll share your smile,
And kiss your cheeks that make life worthwhile.

Sadly missed by MOM, DAD, BROTHER AND SISTER

Peace Walkers Plan To Picket Ballistics Lab

34 Pacifists Spend Night At Frostburg

A group of 34 pacifists who are walking from San Francisco to Moscow arrived in Frostburg last evening and plans to picket Allegany Ballistics Laboratory at Pinto today or tomorrow, said Bradford Lyttle, national secretary of the Committee for Nonviolent Action, sponsor of the walk.

When contacted last night at the Church of the Brethren in Frostburg, where the group ate dinner and planned to stay overnight, Mr. Lyttle said the members plan to picket ABL since the Navy-owned, Hercules Powder Company-operated facility is doing work in connection with the Polaris program.

Yesterday morning the group walked from a point about 20 miles east of Uniontown and followed U. S. Route 40 east to Grantsville and Frostburg. They expect to arrive here sometime today.

Living Stone Church of the Brethren, Second and Cedar streets, will entertain the Walk for Peace group during their stay here.

Last night the group sat down to dinner at the parish social hall of the Church of the Brethren in Frostburg. The meal was prepared by the Women's Fellowship under the direction of Mrs. Mary Hetz, president of the church group.

From Cumberland the walkers will continue their journey on Route 40 east to Hagerstown, Frederick and Washington, D. C. The walkers are accompanied by five cars used primarily for carrying luggage and transporting them to meetings and other gatherings such as the planned picketing at ABL.

David Rich, 22, a native of New Hampshire, is one of the group who has walked the distance from the West Coast. He formerly worked in New York City as a guard in an art museum, said Mr. Lyttle.

Appeals Court Upsets Ruling On Estate

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Court of Appeals Wednesday reversed and remanded two lower court decisions dealing with the conveyance of properties to heirs by their parents.

In the first decision, the high court reversed an Allegany County Circuit Court ruling awarding a parcel of property at Frostburg to Paul and Charlotte Whitefield, as heirs of Alice K. Parker.

Mrs. Betty Jane Brown and Catherine Cook claimed a two-thirds interest in the estate as heirs of Mrs. Parker's husband, William T. Parker. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Cook were Parker's children by a previous marriage.

Parker had received the property from his mother some 16 years prior to her death in 1948.

Parker and his mother's six other children conveyed in a 1949 deed two parcels of land to a brother, James A. Parker, without specifically exempting the parcel William had received some 17 years before.

At Parker's death, the land went to his second wife who in turn, at her death, left it to the Whitefields, her sister and brother-in-law.

Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Brown argued that their father had full title to the property when he died and the Whitefields were entitled to only one-third of the estate as heirs of Mrs. Parker.

"A careful review of the facts and the law leads us to conclude that the appellants (Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Cook) are correct in their position, and that the decree below was erroneous," the court said.

Forty-five men have been furloughed, effective tomorrow at the Baltimore and Ohio car shops in Keyser, W. Va.

City Crew Gets Kind Word For Work In Trash Drive

Campaign Will Close This Morning

A West Side man yesterday expressed the sentiments of most citizens of Cumberland toward the annual trash collection which will end this morning.

The unidentified man walked to a crew headed by William Simpson, foreman, and presented each worker with a few kind words and 50-cent pieces.

The message was that he really appreciated the good job the crews were doing.

It has been heavy work, lifting the tons of trash and rubbish which has been gathering dust in basements and attics into the trucks, but the Street Department crews made a holiday task of it.

Street Commissioner John J. Long said the 11 trucks assigned to the drive yesterday collected 74 loads of debris, to bring the total to 194 truckloads.

He said Street Superintendent Ray Valentine reported that crews covered all of the West Side yesterday but the south side of Greene Street and toward the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant.

Nine trucks will be assigned to that collection, which is expected to be completed by noon today. Other crews will resume their regular tasks.

Mr. Valentine said the department received only six calls that rubbish had been left, and that he picked the articles up in his light truck, so big trucks could keep to their assigned schedules.

Trash collected in the drive was hauled to the city dump, where a bulldozer is pushing the huge pile into a ravine.

Dispensary At Hospital Kept Busy

The dispensary at Memorial Hospital was kept busy last night with several children who were injured in accidents.

Also admitted to the hospital was Robin Lynn Clayton, eight, of Fort Ashby, who fractured her right arm while roller skating.

Douglas Rudolph, 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rudolph, 602 Central Avenue, had his stomach pumped at the hospital after he swallowed some furniture polish.

Joseph Elfritz, three, of 710 Montreal Avenue, sustained several fractured toes when a concrete block fell on his foot. He was treated and released.

Robert Brady, 14, of 113 Utah Avenue, also was treated for a head laceration suffered when he was hit by a brick. X-rays were taken and he was released.

A tour of the facilities on the Frostburg campus will be conducted at intervals from 1 until 2:45 p. m.

Dr. Hardesty will give an hour-long talk on the operation of the college at 2:45 p. m. in the Compton Hall auditorium.

County Vote Roll Stands At 40,265

The number of registered voters who died in Allegany County last month overshadowed the new registrants 30 to 11, figures compiled by the Board of Election Supervisors indicate.

John R. Kelly, chief clerk and Democratic registrar, announced yesterday in the monthly report that as of May 1 there were 40,265 registered voters in the county.

This figure includes 22,347 Republicans; 17,504 Democrats; 314 who declined to indicate party affiliation; eight Socialists; and two other parties.

Mr. Kelly pointed out that 15 Republicans and 15 Democrats died during April this year and their names were stricken from the registration books.

Of the 11 new registrants signed up during the month of April, six are Republicans and five are Democrats.

Eight registered voters transferred from one district and precinct to another; two changed address only; 31 had their names removed by request and four persons changed party affiliation, he said.

Trial Of Five Hardy County Men Postponed

Murder Case Set June 26

The jury trial of five Hardy County, W. Va., men, charged with conspiring to murder a Stephens City, Va., salesman last year, was scheduled to begin yesterday in Circuit Court at Moorefield but has been postponed until June 26.

Their cases had been originally scheduled for hearing on March 27 but their attorneys filed appeals with the West Virginia Supreme Court at Charleston.

The attorneys want the Supreme Court to decide whether the men are to be tried separately or jointly.

Judge H. Gus Muntzing ruled in a hearing before him in February that due to the complexity of the case and the details surrounding the death of Eldridge L. Ritter, 33, on July 14, 1960, the trial of all five should be held jointly.

Lewis Moomau, prosecuting attorney of Hardy County, said yesterday the trial was postponed since authorities of the county have heard no decision from the Supreme Court, as to whether they should be tried jointly or separately.

Defendants in the case are John M. Rexroad, Junior B. Miley, Nolan Shreve and Page Weese, all of Moorefield, and Wilson C. Zirk of Old Fields.

Earlier this month Judge Muntzing told the Supreme Court he does not believe that the five men are entitled to separate trials.

The judge made the observation at a hearing in Charleston on a petition by Zirk for a separate trial. Similar petitions were filed by the four other defendants.

Zirk was tried alone last December on a murder charge in the death of Ritter but the trial ended in a hung jury. He and the four other men were indicted in February on six felony counts.

Five counts, including murder itself, were quashed by the judge, leaving only a charge of conspiracy to commit murder.

Ritter died of loss of blood after his arm had been repeatedly pulled across a jagged section of broken window in his car following a drinking party, police said.

Fire Equipment To Be Readied For Summer

The Cumberland Fire Department will begin getting all of its motorized equipment ready for the summer, according to Fire Chief Virgil Parker.

He said the work will include a complete inspection of each vehicle, a change of oil and grease, cleaning of radiators and a motor tune-up.

Repairs will be made as defects are found in inspections, Chief Parker said.

The work will be in charge of Robert Powers, department mechanic.

As soon as a vehicle is completed, it will be turned over to Assistant Fire Chief Robert C. Long for operating tests required by the Board of Fire Underwriters.

This includes operating tests of drafting water and operation of pumps and engines.

Chief Parker said any vehicle whichc fails to pass the tests and cannot be brought up to standard at a reasonable cost is classed as reserve equipment used only in emergencies.

The complete program of preparing the equipment and testing it will take about two months, Chief Parker said.

Goldstein Speaks

Louis L. Goldstein, state comptroller, speaks to the Lions Club of Cumberland yesterday. Mr. Goldstein called for a total effort of all levels of government to improve Western Maryland's economy.

Goldstein Pledges Fight For More Jobs In Area

Maryland Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein Wednesday called for a total effort from all levels of government to improve economic conditions in Western Maryland.

"In an era of unprecedented prosperity in Maryland and throughout America, it is ironic indeed that some of our fellow Marylanders must suffer and do without basic necessities because of a lack of work," said Goldstein in a speech at a luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Lions Club yesterday.

"Solutions must be found," he said. "We must study the unemployment problem and come up with some answers. This is what government is for. . ."

Goldstein said an accelerated federal highway construction program in the area would help eliminate some unemployment. He said it also would improve commerce and industry in Western Maryland.

"Western Maryland and its people," the comptroller concluded, "have so much to offer that failure is unthinkable. Let's turn our eyes toward the future and watch this area regain its rightful place in the prosperous economy of America."

Brewery Contract Talk Set Today

Contract negotiations between Local 265, Brewery Workers Union, AFL-CIO, and the Queen City and Cumberland brewing companies will resume here today.

The session will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the plant of the Cumberland Brewing Company, according to Jerome Creegan, Local 265 president.

He said members of the union yesterday, by majority vote, authorized their negotiators to call a strike. Such a strike vote is a routine part of contract negotiations and merely empowers the committee to take such action if it is deemed necessary.

Assisting the union in the pact talks is Carl Lemberger, Pittsburgh, area representative of the international union. Union negotiators include Mr. Creegan, Charles F. Martin, recording secretary, Robert Blacker, Arthur Hartman, Fred Hamilton and Orville Young.

Franklin Street Project Plans Being Readied

Will Take Last Funds From 1954 Bonds

The City Engineering Department is updating plans and preparing specifications for the Franklin Street widening project.

The Mayor and Council on Monday authorized Street Commissioner John J. Long to advertise for bids for widening, grading, draining, curbing and surfacing the street between Centre and Mechanic streets.

Plans on file for several years call for widening the present 16-foot roadway to 30 feet.

Was Once An Alley

Once an alley, Franklin Street is now one of the busiest streets connecting Centre and Mechanic streets.

The project will be financed by the last few thousands of dollars which remains from the $350,000 Urban Renewal bond issue sold in 1954 to finance the Frederick Street improvement project, the Franklin Street work and the extension of North George Street.

By the time all costs connected with the Frederick Street project were met, only $26,757 was left for the other work.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, reports the bond fund has $12,058.88 remaining, and that engineering estimates made some time ago called for the Franklin Street project to cost about $10,900.

Property Costs High

The rest of the money left from the bond fund—about $13,000, was spent over the winter to acquire and demolish two properties needed for the wider right of way.

The City filed some $68,000 of liens for property owners' share of the Frederick Street project costs. This money is being placed, as paid, in a revolving fund set up to finance street construction and resurfacing.

The Frederick Street project was built as a federal-aid project. Total costs were $298,000, including matching payments made through the State Roads Commission and for related costs including water line relocation.

Oldtown Boy Dies Of Wound; Services Set

Services for Richard Lee Fletcher, 10-year-old Oldtown boy who died yesterday morning in Memorial Hospital of a gunshot wound of the head, will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. at Mt. Olive Methodist Church.

Rev. Charles W. Sisk, pastor, will officiate, and burial will be in Twigg Cemetery near Oldtown.

The youth, who was a son of Richard W. and Betty (Kinser) Fletcher, accidentally shot himself Monday evening while he was ground squirrel hunting near his home.

He had remained in "critical" condition until he died about 9 a. m. yesterday.

The accident was investigated by Sgt. William F. Baker of the State Police.

The young boy was a fourth grade student at Oldtown Elementary School and was a member of Mt. Olive Methodist Church.

Surviving, besides his parents, are three sisters, Shirley, Golda and Janet, all at home; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lundy Kinser, Oldtown, and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Laura D. Fletcher, also of Oldtown.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home.

Ridgedale Play Unit Will Meet

The Ridgedale Playground Association will meet at 7:30 p. m. today in the Ridgedale Playground building, according to Mrs. Eugene Birmingham, president.

She said all members are urged to attend, so final plans can be made to complete plans for the coming playground season.

A report will be presented on playground equipment ordered on a cooperative basis with the City Recreation Department.

The equipment includes a rainbow climber and a cat walk. Cost was shared equally by the association and the department. It will be installed by the Recreation Department.

The Ridgedale Playground, the smallest operated by the Recreation Department, had about 100 children registered last summer. It is located at the end of Sperry Terrace on land loaned by the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.
